CARTER SPORTS INFORMATION OFFICE

The University of North Carolina enters 2005-06 as the defending national champions, but faces an unprecedented challenge of rebuilding a program that lost its top seven scorers from a year ago.

Head coach Roy Williams, the winningest active coach in America and the fourth-winningest in college basketball history, directs a program that lost 91 percent of its scoring and three-point shooting, 88 percent of its rebounding and 184 of 185 games started from the team that went 33-4 and won the 2005 NCAA title.

Gone from Carolina's fourth NCAA championship team are seniors Jackie Manuel, Melvin Scott and Jawad Williams, juniors Raymond Felton, Sean May and Rashad McCants and ACC Freshman of the Year Marvin Williams. The latter quartet declared early for the NBA and made history by being among the first 14 players selected in the NBA Draft. Those seven players accounted for 81.4 points per game (the seven players alone would have been the sixth-highest scoring team in the nation last year).

No team in ACC history has ever lost its top seven scorers. Carolina lost its top three scorers on two previous occasions – from 1994-95 to 1995-96 (Jerry Stackhouse, Rasheed Wallace and Donald Williams) and from 1997-98 to 1998-99 (Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Shammond Williams).

Senior forward David Noel is the Tar Heels' top returning player. He averaged 16.9 minutes per game last year and was a key figure in Carolina's run to the national title. He played an added role when McCants missed the last four games of the regular season due to illness and was solid in those four victories. He was on the floor for defensive purposes at the end of the national title game against Illinois.

The Durham, N.C., native averaged 3.9 points and 2.6 rebounds last year. Prior to this season, the fewest points scored by Carolina's leading returning scorer from the previous year was 8.0 by Ademola Okulaja and Ed Cota in 1998-99.

Noel scored a season-high 12 points at Maryland and posted career-bests in scoring (21) and rebounding (11) as a freshman in the NIT against DePaul.

"David Noel is a fantastic young man who is being asked to assume an important leadership role on and off the court," says Williams. "It will be interesting to see how David steps forward this year. I truly believe he will do it in a positive manner. David has a great deal of flexibility in his game that allows him to play both the '3' and '4' positions. I expect he will do the same again this year."

Four other lettermen return for the Tar Heels, including 6-8 forward Reyshawn Terry and 6-3 sophomore point guard Quentin Thomas.

Terry, a junior from Winston-Salem, averaged 2.3 points last year as he played in 143 minutes in 32 games. He was 12 for 20 from three-point range. He hit key three-pointers in home wins over Maryland and Duke and scored in the first half of the national semifinals against Michigan State.

"Reyshawn will have more pressure on him this year because we are going to expect him to do certain things," says Williams. "He had a chance to get some moments last year. There is ability there for him to step forward. He has the ability to score and get to the offensive boards. We need him to do those things and concentrate on defense. We are hopeful that we will see great things from him this year."

Thomas started the season opener in his hometown of Oakland against Santa Clara when Felton was sitting out due to an NCAA suspension. Thomas played 6.3 minutes per game and saw action in all 37 contests. He had 47 assists and 48 turnovers and took only 22 shots fro the field.

"Quentin is one of those kids whom you ca say is the key to our team," says Williams. "Th quarterback position is so important to the wa we play and the experience he got last year pu him in prime position to take over that role th Raymond had last year. He needs to set the pac for us offensively and defensively, not turn over and not foul."

Byron Sanders, a 6-9 senior forward/cent from Gulfport, Miss., should play his mo extensive role since his freshman year when h made a dozen starts after May went down wi a foot injury. Last year, he played only 77 min utes in 26 games and had 22 points and 2 rebounds.

"Byron has had a very good spring and sum mer," says Williams. "Last year with Marv Williams and David Noel being the substitu big men, Byron lost a bit of his intensity. I cha lenged him to regain that intensity. We reall need his help on the defensive end of the floo and on the backboards."

Junior guard Wes Miller made 5 of 16 sho from three-point range last year, his first activ season after transferring from James Madison He averaged 4.1 points and 1.6 assists in 1 minutes a game for the Dukes in 2002-03.

"Wes plays the point, but shoots the ba extremely well," says Williams. "There may b ome instances where he can play the '2' pot for us. I don't know if I've ever been round a youngster who is more serious bout his workouts in the offseason. I now we have an athlete who is as condi-oned as he can possibly be."

2004-05 NCAA champion

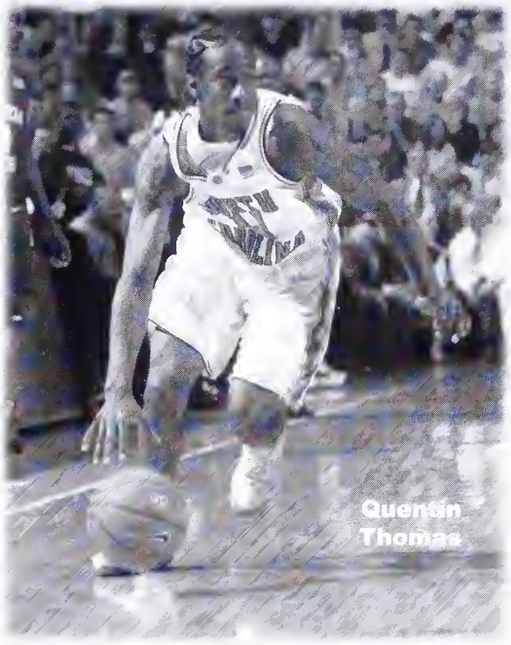
The Tar Heels must get immediate con-ibutions from five freshmen – 6-9 for-ard Tyler Hansbrough from Poplar luff, Mo.; 6-7 forward Mike Copeland om Winston-Salem; 6-5 wing Danny reen from North Babylon, N.Y.; 6-5 uard Marcus Ginyard from Alexandria, a.; and 6-3 guard Bobby Frasor from lue Island, Ill.

"Tyler has gotten so many accolades nd awards, yet is as humble as you could ossibly be," says Williams. "He has a esire to improve. We need a big-time ebounder and Tyler has a chance to do at. I truly believe he will be a fantastic ayer, but I hope people don't expect too uch from him too soon.

"Mike went through a lot of hard work ver the course of the summer to become student here," says Williams. "He wanted very uch to be a part of our basketball program so e gave up a lot of his summer vacation to make ure that happened. We are hoping that he gives s a good rebounder and an inside scorer.

"Danny gives us flexibility because he can ay more than one position," says Williams. He has a knack for getting balls off the offen-ve boards and for getting his hands on loose alls and blocked shots. He is fundamentally ound and we need him to play that way and be n excellent shooter."

Peyton Williams



"Marcus is extremely well conditioned," says Williams. "He was as good a high school defender as anyone I've ever seen and I hope he can carry that over to the college game, as well.

"Bobby is a coach's son who has tremendous savvy," says Williams. "I expect him to pick up things very quickly. He can play the '1' and '2' and I can see him playing both spots. He is a gym-rat type of youngster."

Williams understands the daunting challenge that faces the most inexperienced team in modern Carolina basketball history.

"I don't know what a fair expectation is for this team," says Williams. "We won't know until we actually get into games, and then we will know more about our team every game. They will be fun to coach and will improve dramatically over the course of the season. When you have almost no experience, it is a chink in your armor because experience is a huge factor in college basketball.

"I am concerned about depth, especially in our big people. It's definitely the youngest team I have ever coached, it's the least experienced team I have ever coached and it's the least amount of depth up front that I have ever coached.

"As coaches, we have to be a little more patient. Fans have expectations for results; coaches have expectations for play. We expect things to be done because it is the right way to play. But a lot of times you expect that to be done because the players have experience. We have to understand that these players are inexperienced. We have to go slower in our teaching, be more precise in what we are doing and not have expectations, but realizations about what we see out there.

"I will still be just as demanding for effort and concentration, but I have to understand they are walking a road that they have never walked."

With so many unanswered questions heading into the start of the season, it's hard for Williams even to point out obvious areas of strength.

"I know I'll love our enthusiasm and our eagerness, but we have no idea what our strengths on the court will be because so many of them have never been in a college game and those that have played have never been asked to produce in crunch time.

"I have the best staff in America to meet this challenge," Williams adds proudly. "Each coach says that, but no one can say it with the conviction I do. Every former and current player I've coached loves and trusts each and every one of them and I can't think of a better compliment than that.

"My biggest concerns on the floor are rebounding and taking care of the ball. We are going to try to play at the pace I like, but we will find out if we can. I want to play that way, and I think these kids will eventually be able to play that way. The question is will that happen this season – that I don't know."

The Tar Heels open the 2005-06 regular season on November 19 in Chapel Hill against Gardner-Webb.

TAR HEEL YOUTH MOVEMENT

The 2005-06 Tar Heels, who return one of their top seven scorers from last season, will constitute the most inexperienced team in school history, writes Sports Information Director Emeritus Rick Brewer:

"The 2006 Carolina team will be without seven of its top eight players from last season. Only David Noel remains from the eight-man rotation that Roy Williams used in 2004-05. Quentin Thomas, who saw spot action in every game behind Raymond Felton, and Reyshawn Terry, did play in 32 games.

"Perhaps the biggest previous season of personnel losses at Carolina came from the 1972 Final Four team. Three starters were lost to graduation—forward Dennis Wuycik, forward Bill Chamberlain and guard Steve Previs. Junior center Robert McAdoo left for the professional ranks. In addition, Kim Huband, the top reserve at guard, was a senior. Craig Corson and Bill Chambers, two of the top frontcourt backups also graduated. But, that team did return George Karl, the starting point guard, and Bobby Jones, who played almost as much as the starters up front.

A check of the records has been unable to find any other NCAA championship team that lost all five of its starters. One of the closest to doing that was Indiana's unbeaten 1976 title team that had four seniors, including Scott May. Only junior center Kent Benson returned in 1977."

Bahamas Trip Builds Chemistry

The 2005-06 Carolina basketball team spent Labor Day weekend in the Bahamas, playing a pair of exhibition games against club teams the Real Deal Shockers and the Y-Care Wreckers. The competition wasn't to the level of ACC basketball, but there were definite benefits for the Tar Heels.

The following is an excerpt from a TarHeelBlue.com story following the trip:

by Adam Lucas, Tar Heel Monthly

The team practiced four times in Chapel Hill for 75 minutes each and went through a 30-minute review session on the raw basics of the Carolina system Saturday morning before the game. NCAA rules allow 10 practices before an international trip, but the late start to school at UNC prevented the Tar Heels from using the full allotment.

The Bahamas excursion was also the first opportunity for the five-man freshman class to see how things are done the Carolina way on the road, from the charter flights to team meals to even the less glamorous part of being a rookie — Bobby Frasor drew the unenviable duty of hauling the "big blue bag" filled with medical supplies from the bus to the gym and back.

"(Chemistry) was the biggest benefit," Roy Williams said. "The kids were able to spend some time together. They got to room with different people than they room with at home, and the older guys were able to take care of the freshmen and give them some advice. We were able to get together as a team now rather than waiting until October 14."

STEPPING FORWARD

David Noel is Carolina's undisputed leader.

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

by Adam Lucas, Tar Heel Monthly

Eight Tar Heels logged at least 10 minutes in the 2005 NCAA championship game. Only one of them, David Noel, is attending classes in Chapel Hill this fall.

It's not quite equivalent to being the new kid in school, but it is striking to see Noel wandering the halls of the Smith Center without best friend Raymond Felton or cracking jokes while doing shooting drills without partner in crime Jackie Manuel nearby. For three years, the group was inseparable. Now just Noel remains.

To ease the transition, he spent two weeks in Oakland this summer with Quentin Thomas.

"It hasn't been as lonely as I thought it would be, and that time in Oakland is a big reason why," Noel says. "Spending time with 'Q' was really important, and when I was back in Chapel Hill I spent a lot of time with Reyshawn (Terry). We've bonded with people we might not have bonded with before and that is going to be important for this team.

"In a sense I'm starting over. But at the same time we want to pick up where we left off. Starting fresh with new guys is always fun, because you learn about new people and what they can do. I'm finding new friends and new people to rely on."

The Durham native, who attended the NBA Draft this summer and spent some time playing pickup games against several of the draft hopefuls, hasn't really had time to be lonely. He's essentially taken over the role of the face of the Tar Heels, which comes with significant responsibility—and time commitments.

He's on the cover of the media guide, one of the featured faces on the team poster, and is almost always the first interview request from anyone searching for a Tar Heel story angle.

"Right now, it's still fun to have all these things to do," Noel said. "I don't have too much more to do. Once the season starts it may be a little hectic, but I'm going to be the same person regardless. I consider it to be a blessing."

But being the senior leader isn't solely about photo shoots and interviews. Last year Jawad Williams organized most of the informal team pickup games. This year that responsibility has been passed to Noel. When coaches need to arrange a team function, they usually turn to Noel first.

"I've taken it upon myself to do a lot of those things," he said. "I want to get us on a schedule and make sure everyone can schedule themselves accordingly. I definitely take that as part of my leadership role."

But being the acknowledged leader of this year's squad doesn't mean Noel could coast over the summer. Roy Williams handed him a long list of needed improvements in his game before the summer began. With Byron Sanders the only returning post presence and Tyler Hansbrough likely to go through an adjustment period to college basketball, Noel seems destined to reprise the role he played as a freshman—undersized post warrior.

Last season he was effective guarding players on the wing in tandem with Jackie Manuel, using his size and strength to harass undersized opponents. This year he'll have to use guile and quickness to stay with opposing posts.

"Coach always wants us to work on defense," Noel says. "I know I'll be in the post more this year. But in the post it's a little bit easier to guard people because they don't move around as much. I'll be smaller than most guys I guard, but I'll also be quicker."

A NEW ROLE

Reyshawn Terry is a likely starter this season.

by Adam Lucas, Tar Heel Monthly

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Reyshawn Terry found himself in a difficult position last year. The Winston-Salem native wasn't quite in the Tar Heel rotation—it was a big dropoff from Melvin Scott's 16.3 minutes per game to Terry's 4.5.

But Terry wasn't quite on the blue team, either. On occasion, that in-between status left Terry sitting on the bench looking somewhat forlorn. He's played double-digit minutes in only five games in his Carolina career. He should make up for it this season, as he'll be asked to play a significant role on Roy Williams's third Carolina team.

"The guys in front of me in the past deserved to play," Terry says. "They were better than me at that time. I had to sit back and wait my turn."

He's bulked up over the summer, adding about ten pounds, but the strength of his game has always been athleticism, not brute force. Remember, this is the player of whom Rashad McCants once said, "He's more athletic than LeBron."

Carolina needs that athleticism to create some matchup problems this season. Although at 6-foot-8 Terry is one of the tallest players on the roster, he's likely to spend most of his time this season on the wing, not in the post. In spot minutes last year he flashed a reliable outside shooting stroke, hitting 60 percent of his three-point attempts.

In general, the physical skills are there. Terry says his first two years have been devoted to developing a knowledge of the game required to be an effective contributor.

"In high school you just do what you want to do," he says. "In college it's uptempo, but there are plays you have to know. As I've gone along each year I've picked up more things and gotten better as a player. I want to be more aggressive, but at the same time I have to be better about my decision making. I want to have a stronger mentality this year."

Most of Terry's notoriety has come from his offense. When he's gotten attention for his defense, it's usually been of the negative variety, as occasional mental lapses and assignment issues have been a problem. But as he's learned from two years playing under Williams, even the best offensive player will spend some time on the bench if he can't play defense.

Terry added almost 15 pounds this offseason, bulk that should help him defend bigger players if the matchups dictate it. The athleticism that has been so impressive on offense should also be of some benefit on defense.

"I have to hold up my end of the bargain on defense," he says. "I learned a lot from watching Jackie (Manuel). He didn't let his size dictate his ability. Just because he wasn't as big, he didn't let that impact the way he played defense."

THOMAS TAKES OVER

by Adam Lucas, Tar Heel Monthly

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

The idea used to be simple: the point guard arrives at Carolina and serves a year of apprenticeship before taking over the reins. King Rice, Derrick Phelps, Jeff McInnis and Ed Cota all did it.

Raymond Felton smashed the cycle, starting all 35 games as a rookie. But now Quentin Thomas wants to prove a year of seasoning has made him a better point guard.

At times last season, Thomas seemed completely disinterested in the location of the basket, instead looking solely for his teammates. Dribble penetration was rare and he ended the season with only 22 shot attempts and an assist/turnover ratio slightly below 1.0 (47 assists, 48 turnovers). But he also spent the season constantly looking over his shoulder for Felton. He's come back for his sophomore year a more confident player who more closely resembles the guard Roy Williams fell in love with on the recruiting trail.

But scoring won't be Thomas's main responsibility. One of the first things he'll have to do is get acquainted with the sight of Williams waving his arms, helicopter style, from the sidelines. The head coach wants his point guard to push the tempo at all times and he's not shy about letting him know it.

Some teams just fast break when the opponent misses a shot. Williams wants to do it on every possible possession. And with the halfcourt offense likely to take some time to gel, Thomas says he wants to push the tempo even more than last season.

"We can definitely play that tempo," he says. "We actually have to run a lot more than we did last year. I know that sounds hard, because we ran so much last year, but we've got to run and get every fast break opportunity we can because that's a way we can get some easy baskets."

But Thomas won't just have to create baskets. He'll also have to prevent them. Defense was a major issue for him last year, as he struggled to use his hands properly and was too often the victim of blow-bys in practice. Defense isn't just about making steals or blocked shots. It's also about staying in front of your man, which requires the proper blend of footwork, quickness, and strength.

Defending more effectively was one of the first items on Williams's offseason list for Thomas. The Oakland native thinks his added weight combined with better defensive principles will make him a better defender as a sophomore.

"I'm not reaching in as much," he says. "In high school I could get away with doing that, but at this level everyone is a much better athlete. So I worked this summer on staying focused and staying low. I want to beat the offensive player to his spot. And with the pushing that goes on, I think the added weight will help me stay on balance."

Roy Williams

It was Sunday, April 3rd, a little ore than 24 hours before No. 1 ıked Illinois and No. 2 North rolina would compete for the 05 NCAA basketball champi- ship. It was at a press conference ıen Tar Heel center Sean May, ated next to Roy Williams, told assembled media how much he nted to win the championship his coach. It was a declaration t went straight to the heart for h player and coach.

'When Sean said he had oughts of being on the team that n me my first national champi- ship, it almost got me," lliams says. "I tried to pinch my ee or something. I didn't feel e I could lose it up there. I went ck to the room, and I thought re's a youngster that has a ance to be on basketball's gest stage, and he wants to win e, not just for Roy Williams, but wanted to be on that team."

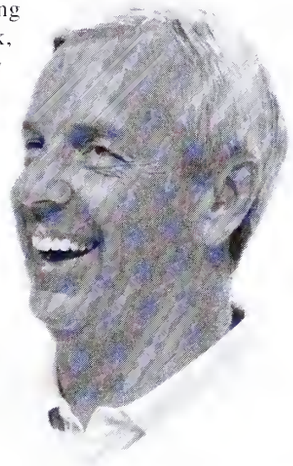
When the buzzer sounded and rth Carolina was indeed nation- champions, May, the Final Four VP, ran straight to Williams and ve him an emphatic embrace.

'We all wanted to win for the iors, but I especially wanted a ional championship for Coach lliams," May said. "He's a great son and a great coach and I nted to be on his first national mpionship team. I know he's ng to win more, but we can ays say we were on his first."

Assistant coach C.B. McGrath l May were the first to congrat- te Williams for a title that was eered across the basketball rld because of the respect he has ned from all levels of the game. 'C.B. grabbed me, and it was a at hug," recalls Williams. hen here comes Sean. A hundred million dollars I would give up before I would forget that memory, that big, smelly, sweaty rascal coming and hugging my neck, and saying how happy he was. Money can't buy that kind of feeling."

Williams, a 1972 Carolina graduate, joined Dean Smith and Frank McGuire as Tar Heel coaches who have won an NCAA championship after UNC defeated the Illini, 75-70. May scored 26 points in the finale, becoming one of the most popular players in school history after a dominant second half of the season in which he had double-doubles in 13 of the last 16 games.

"Coach Williams allowed me to be successful – he put me in positions to be successful," says May. "He pulled out my strengths, hid my weaknesses and taught me how to run the floor. I never wanted to run until I came here, now I love it."



The national championship capped a magical season in which the Tar Heels went 33-4, including a 14-2 mark in the ACC. Carolina finished first in the ACC regular-season standings for the first time since 2001 and won the league outright for the first time in 12 years. It was the 10th time Williams has led a team to the top of the conference standings.

Carolina went 15-0 at home – the seventh unbeaten home record in Williams' 17 years as a head coach – and posted a 6-2 record on the road in ACC play. The Tar Heels won the Maui Invitational by an average of 21 points per game; led the nation in scoring average, scoring margin and assists; scored 100 or more points six times and 90 or more points on 16 occasions; went 9-3 against ranked teams; and became the third team in history to lead the nation in scoring and win the NCAA championship.

Carolina's high-octane attack averaged 88.0 points per game, the 15th time in 17 years Williams' teams have topped 80 points a game.

"The reason we're so successful this year is because we've completely bought into what Coach Williams is saying," May told the L.A. Times late in the regular season. "He told us, 'If you do what I tell you to do, you'll be successful,' and we've finally bought into that. Obviously you can see the results."

Williams had the Tar Heels playing their best in the NCAA Tournament. Carolina won the six games en route to the title by outscoring the opposition by 13.9 points a game, out-shooting them 51.4 to 39.3 percent and outrebounding them by 6.2 per game.

Williams takes great pride in his teams playing unselfish basketball, taking the best shots available, hitting the boards and playing tenacious, man-to-man defense. The 2005 Tar Heels exhibited all of those traits.

To wit: five different players averaged double-figure scoring, despite just one player averaging more than 30 minutes played per game; the Tar Heels averaged 19.1 assists per game and had assists on 63 percent of field goals made; UNC shot 50 percent or better from the floor 20 times (and won all 20 games) and held the opposition to less than 40 percent shooting 20 times (and won 18 of those 20 games); Carolina went 28-1 in games it out-rebounded the opponents; despite shooting a higher percentage from the floor 29 times, the Tar Heels had more offensive rebounds in 21 contests and went 18-3 in those games; and Carolina held Michigan State and Illinois under 40 percent shooting from the floor in three of four halves played at the Final Four.

"Winning the national championship means all the preparation we had done to get to that point paid off," said All-America forward Rashad McCants. "You sit back and think, all the things we did in practice every day were perfect for us. You have to commend a coach to understand that – he just designed something perfect for a bunch of players who had never won anything and for us to do everything that we've done in this short period of time is amazing."

The NCAA championship highlights a brilliant 27-year collegiate coaching career in which Williams has established himself as one of the top coaches and premier program builders in America. He is one of the most respected men in college basketball among coaches, players, parents, administrators and media. It was evident by the number of well-wishes and congratulatory calls and letters Williams received before and after winning the national championship, including countless numbers from former Kansas players and parents.

'Coach Williams opened up the gram to all the former Tar Heel yers to make us feel welcome l work out any time we want ' says New Jersey Net guard f McInnis, who played at UNC m 1993-96. "That's all you can for. He didn't even coach us l for him to be like that toward shows you how the Carolina nily works."

Williams has the highest win- g percentage in the nation ong active coaches with 10 rs experience and the fourth- hest in history, having led his ms to a 470-116 record, a victo- rate of 80.2 percent. Only Clair e, Adolph Rupp and John oden join Williams atop the 80 cent mark.

'He's really a bright man," says an Smith. "He has the whole kage of what you want as a college head coach. You want somebody who knows basketball, can judge talent, is a competent leader and can teach it in practice, makes good decisions in the game, is highly organized, and also is honest in recruiting.

"He's like Tiger Woods in golf – they have the whole package," Smith adds. "I don't know anyone else who does. I certainly consider him to be the best college coach in the country."

Williams, whose teams are 228-19 at home (.923), is in his third year as Carolina's head coach. He rejoined the Tar Heels on April 14, 2003, after leading the Kansas Jayhawks to the NCAA championship game in his 15th and final year in Lawrence.

"Roy Williams is one of the select few of the greatest coaches in the entire game of basketball," says Bill Walton, NBA Hall of Fame player and TV analyst. "His move to North Carolina ensures for the foreseeable future excellence both on and off the court. The championships will now fall time after time to Chapel Hill. More importantly Coach Williams' impact on young people's lives throughout this great land will change the course of history. We love Coach Williams and admire and respect everything that he does – except for the fact that he's not coaching at UCLA."

He has led Kansas and Carolina to 16 consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, the second-longest active streak in the country and the third-longest in NCAA Tournament history. Only Smith (23 years in a row) and Lute Olson (21) have put together longer NCAA Tournament streaks.

"I know so much more about basketball now than I did a year ago," says Marvin Williams, who was the 2005 ACC Rookie of the Year and the second pick in the 2005 NBA Draft. "Coach Williams has so much knowledge about the game it is unbelievable. He is a great coach and he loves to teach. He's taught me so much about basketball since last year, especially the little things. I didn't know little things made that big of a difference in a basketball game."

Marvin Williams also told the Los Angeles Times that, "It was a blessing to be coached by Coach Williams. He's such a great man to be around. He's a great teacher in the game of basketball and life."

Williams has taken five teams to the Final Four, including 1991, 1993, 2002 and 2003 at Kansas and 2005 at Carolina. Only five coaches have been to the Final Four more than Williams. He is the 12th coach to lead two schools to the Final Four and the third (along with Larry Brown and McGuire) to direct two schools to the championship game.

"I have so much respect for him and I am so glad that he's our coach," says former Tar Heel All-America and NBA All-Star Jerry Stackhouse. "I really feel with him the tradition that we all felt when I played here. He has a discipline he learned from Coach Smith and that discipline is back here now. That's why we were able to have success last year and win the national championship."

The 55-year-old Williams is seventh all-time in NCAA Tournament wins with 41 and has an NCAA postseason win percentage of .732, fourth-best among active coaches.

Williams is the only coach in the nation to win at least one NCAA Tournament game in each of the last 16 seasons. The NCAA record is 17 straight years by Dean Smith. Six of his teams have been seeded No. 1 in a region in NCAA play.

"I always thought if Coach Williams came back to Carolina he was going to get us a national championship," says George Lynch, captain of the 1993 NCAA champions and a 13-year NBA veteran. "He has a great personality and he's fair to his players. He tells them like it is. He came back and got guys to play the right way and come together as a team."

Last year's 33-win season marked the sixth time he has coached a team to 30 or more wins, the second-most in NCAA history. He has won 20 or more games 15 times in 17 years, winning only 19 in his first seasons at Kansas and Carolina, respectively.

"Coach Williams is a great coach," says Jackie Manuel, who earned ACC All-Defensive Team honors each of the last two seasons. "He's going to teach you the fundamentals of the game and off the court he cares about his kids. He wants the best for his kids. He's going to push you; he's trying to bring the best out of you. If I have a son, I would definitely let him play for Coach Williams."

In 2003-04, Williams led the Tar Heels to a 19-11 record, with a win over No. 1-ranked and eventual national champion Connecticut. Carolina returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in three years and beat Air Force in the opening round before falling to Texas, 78-75. Carolina averaged 80.2 points per game, an increase of 10.0 points from the previous year and UNC's highest scoring average since 1994-95.

"Roy is as good as it gets in a person," says legendary NBA executive and Los Angeles Lakers Hall of Fame guard Jerry West. "There's nothing deceptive about him. He is what he is – a wonderful person and a great coach. If you watch his teams, you know they've been coached. If you go to his practices, you know why his teams are successful. His players play the right way. They're team-oriented. They play a fun way offensively. They're aggressive. He changes defenses. He does it all. He's just a wonderful coach."

"What separates the good coaches from the great coaches is consistency," says Carolina's all-time leading scorer Phil Ford, now an assistant coach with the New York Knicks. "If you are consistently going deep in the NCAA Tournament and having successful seasons year after year with different talent and abilities, that's what separates the good from the great. His track record is one of being consistently good for a long time."

Williams won 20 or more games in each of his last 14 seasons at Kansas, a streak that equaled the third-longest in NCAA history behind Smith (27) and Olson (18).

Williams secured his 400th win on Jan. 15, 2003, when Kansas defeated Wyoming, 98-70. He was the third-fastest coach in history to reach 300 wins and sped to 400 faster than all but three coaches in history (Rupp, Bee and Jerry Tarkanian). In fact, he has won more games than any coach after eight, nine, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 seasons as a head coach. He is the second-winningest Jayhawk coach in history behind Smith's college coach, Phog Allen.

"We used to have Dean Smith, who was the be coach in the country says former Tar He head coach B Guthridge, who w an assistant at UN with Williams. "No we have R Williams, who I thi is the best coach the country. He's pe ple-oriented. When was an assistant he I know the playe really respected a liked him. That w obviously the case Kansas as well. Tho guys played the hearts out for him."

Williams spent seasons as an assi tant coach under Smith Carolina. From 1978-88, helped coach such Tar He standouts as Mike O'Kore Al Wood, James Worth Sam Perkins, Matt Doher Michael Jordan, Br Daugherty, Kenny Smit Joe Wolf, Steve Hale, Je Lebo, J.R. Reid and Sc Williams.

"I truly learned a lot fro Coach Williams when I w at North Carolina," sa Michael Jordan. "I consid Roy not only to be a gre coach, but a good friend know that the Tar Heels a in good hands with Coa Williams."

The Tar Heels played the NCAA Tournament in each Williams' 10 seasons. Caroli won the NCAA title in 1982, fi ished second in 1981 and won shared six Atlantic Co Conference regular-season titl and three ACC Tournament cha pionships (1979, 1981, 1982).

"When I think of him, I think his honesty, integrity and treme dous work ethic," says Daugher a five-time NBA All-Star with t Cleveland Cavaliers. "He is classy, classy individual. But he also one of the toughest peopl have ever met in my life. No one tougher than Roy Williams, but is fair. That's why the kids lo him so much. When you ha

The Jayhawks went 94-18 in conference play over his last seven years and averaged 27.9 wins per season with a high of 35 in 1997-98. He also won 30 in 1989-90, 34 in 1996-97, 33 in 2001-02 and 30 in 2002-03.

He led Kansas to the Final Four in 1991, 1993, 2002 and 2003. The Jayhawks reached the Sweet 16 nine times and the Final Eight on five occasions.

"He's the best coach in college basketball," says 1998 National Player of the Year Antawn Jamison. "He reminds me a lot of Coach Smith. Not just in terms of basketball, but as far as knowing the importance of having good people, caring about making sure they are successful after basketball. He'll have a big influence over every player that comes through the program, preparing them for life. That's what it's all about. It's not just about being a coach, but being like a father figure.

"I got to know Coach when his son, Scott, played with us at Carolina. I've always respected him. I'm happy for him because he came back home and was able to get it done. I'm happy it paid off and he has been able to be so successful."

Kansas went 30-8 in 2002-03, his final year in Lawrence. Led by Collison, the NABC National Player of the Year, and Hinrich, another All-America, the Jayhawks beat Duke, Arizona and Marquette en route to the national championship game. It was KU's first back-to-back appearance in the Final Four since 1952-53.

"Roy is as good as there is," says Connecticut head coach Jim Calhoun. "He's a terrific coach and a terrific person. He has taken Dean's system, which was the best, and incorporated it into his own...He gets a lot from his kids. Roy is a first ballot, Hall of Fame coach, and a first-ballot nice guy."

Kansas won nine regular-season conference championships over his last 13 years. In seven years of Big 12 Conference play, his teams went 94-18, capturing the regular-season title in 1997, 1998, 2002 and 2003 and the postseason tournament crown in 1997, 1998 and 1999. In 2001-02, KU became the first Big 12 team to go 16-0 in league play. From 1995-98, Kansas was a combined 123-17 – an average of 30.8 wins per season.

He was hired just months after the Danny Manning-led Jayhawks won the 1988 NCAA championship. Weeks after taking the position, KU was placed on probation for violations that took place prior to his arrival.

Williams' teams went 201-17 (.922) in Allen Fieldhouse, and won 62 consecutive games in Allen from February 1994 to December 1998.

Kansas was a regular in the Associated Press Top 25 from 1991 to 1999, placing in the AP poll for 145 consecutive weeks. Williams' teams were ranked in the Top 10 in 194 AP polls since 1990.

Williams had Kansas in the AP Top 25 in 242 of 268 weekly polls. Kansas reached the No. 1 ranking in the country in six different seasons and was ranked at least No. 2 in the nation in 11 of the 15 seasons. The Tar Heels finished the 2004-05 season ranked No. 1 in the coaches poll and No. 2 in the Associated Press poll.

Williams has coached 20 players to first-team all-conference honors, including Raymond Felton and May in 2004-05, and McCants in 2003-04. Five Jayhawks were named conference player of the year and May was named 2005 ACC Male Athlete of the Year. May also became his eighth player to earn first-team All-America honors. Two players – Gooden and Collison – were voted the best player in the country by the NABC. He coached four KU players to consensus first-team All-America honors – LaFrentz in 1997 and 1998, Pierce in 1998, Gooden in 2002 and Collison in 2003.

"I was just coming (to Kansas) to play basketball for a man I knew I could trust and a man I hoped would make my dreams a reality," said LaFrentz, a two-time Big 12 Player of the Year. "Thanks to Coach Williams for doing that. Thanks to him for always being there, for always being an example for every player who has come into his program and, most importantly, thanks for being a friend."

Fourteen (14) of his players have been selected in the first round of the NBA Draft, including the four Tar Heels who were selected in the first 14 picks in the 2005 draft: Randall (1991), Walters (1993), Ostertag (1995), Pollard (1997), Vaughn (1997), LaFrentz (1998), Pierce (1998), Gooden (2002), Hinrich (2003), Collison (2003), Marvin Williams (2005), Felton (2005), May (2005) and McCants (2005).

Kansas led the nation in field goal percentage and scoring in 2002 and in scoring margin in 2003; held opponents to the lowest field goal percentage in the country in 2001 (37.8 percent); led the nation in winning percentage in 1997 and 2002; shot better than 50 percent from the floor seven times and led the country in field goal percentage in 1990 at 53.3 percent and in 2002 at 50.6 percent; shot a combined 49.4 percent from the floor in 15 seasons; led the nation in assists in 2001 and 2002 and was seventh in the nation in 2003; scored 100 or more points 71 times (once every 13 games); averaged 82.7 points per game in 15 year; averaged 90 or more points in two seasons (92.1 in 1990 and 90.9 in 2002).

Academic priority is an important characteristic of Williams' program. Each Carolina senior in his tenure has either received his degree or is on track to do so this year. Two players – Byron Sanders and Melvin Scott – earned Academic All-ACC honors.

Three Kansas players were named first-team Academic All-America– Ryan Robertson in 1999, Jacque Vaughn and Jerod Haase in 1997 and Vaughn in 1996 – and 31 Jayhawks earned first-team academic all-conference honors.

"He will win with class and dignity because that's what the man is about," says Joe Posnanski, who covered the Jayhawks for t Kansas City Star. "He will have t Tar Heels running fast and scori in bunches, and he will build the legacy of the man he admi most."

Williams grew up outside Asheville, N.C., in the small co munity of Biltmore. He attended C. Roberson High School, wh he earned letters in basketball a baseball for four seasons. In b ketball, playing for Coach Bud Baldwin, he was named all-cou and all-conference for t years (1967 and 1968), western North Carolina 1968 and served as capt in the North Caroli Blue-White All-S Game.

Much of Willian coaching style comes fr spending so many ye observing and then coac ing with Smith. Willia played on Carolina's fre man team in 1968- under Guthridge.

Williams often sat in Smith's varsity practi sessions taking notes a furthering his knowle of the game, no Williams maintains ev today. Williams' practi are intense, instructive a precise.

"Practices are v intense, you get a lot d in a small amount of tim says 2005 Tar Heel tri-c tain Jawad Willia "When you put fun a hard work together, th very nice. We get a more accomplished."

He earned two degrees from Carolina — a bachelor's degree in education in 1972 and an M.A.T. in 1973.

In 1973, Williams began his coaching career at Charles D. Owen Swannanoa (N.C.) High School. He coached basketball and boys' golf for five years, ninth-grade football for four years and served as athletics director for two years.

He joined Smith's staff as in 1978, adding to his income by traveling all over the state selling basketball team calendars and delivering Smith's weekly TV show to affiliates. While a member of Smith's staff, the Tar Heels went 275-61.

Williams has been active in international circles, as well. The 2004 U.S. Olympic Team assignment was his fourth with USA Basketball. In 1991, Williams worked under P.J. Carlesimo at the World University Games in Sheffield, England, where the USA won the gold medal. In 1992, he helped coach the United States Olympic Development Team, a squad of eight college all-stars who scrimmaged the first U.S. Olympic Dream Team. In 1993, Williams served as head coach of the USA Under-22 Team in a qualifying tournament in Argentina. He has served as a lecturer and camp director for the West German National Junior Team.

He served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and was president in 2001-02. In addition, Williams served on the NCAA basketball rules committee for six years, chairing the committee in 2000-01.

Several of Williams' former staff members have gone on to head coaching positions, including Neil Dougherty (in his fourth year at TCU), Kevin Stallings (in his seventh season at Vanderbilt), Mark Turgeon (in his sixth year at Wichita State), Matt Doherty (formerly at Notre Dame and Carolina, now in his first year at Florida Atlantic), Steve Robinson (formerly at Tulsa and Florida State) and Jerry Green (formerly at Oregon and Tennessee). Jay Price, a manager at Kansas, has been an assistant at Purdue and Illinois.

Williams (born August 1, 1950) and his wife, Wanda, a 1972 Carolina graduate, have a son, Scott, and a daughter, Kimberly, both of whom reside in Charlotte. The Williams family contributed $100,000 to the Carolina Covenant, an initiative at UNC that allows low-income students to attend the University debt free.

Scott earned a business degree from UNC and played point guard under Bill Guthridge on the basketball team in 1997-98 and 1998-99. He and his wife, Katie (Wolford), were married in August 2005. Year-by-Year as Head Coach 1988-89: Williams turned down several head coaching opportunities while at UNC until the Kansas job opened up in 1988. His first team had only eight scholarship players and was ineligible for postseason play. But the Jayhawks won 13 of their first 14 games, including 11 straight, and finished with a 19-12 record.

1989-90: Kansas won its first 19 games, including all four in the Preseason NIT. The Jayhawks went from being unranked in the preseason poll to No. 1 or No. 2 for 13 consecutive weeks. A 30-5 season and an NCAA Tournament appearance helped earn Williams Big Eight and National Coach of the Year honors.

1990-91: Kansas went 10-4 in conference play and earned a share of the Big Eight title. In the NCAA Tournament, Kansas posted victories over New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Indiana and Arkansas to capture the NCAA Southeast Regional and earned a Final Four berth. Playing in front of 47,100 fans at the Indianapolis Hoosier Dome, Williams guided KU to a 79-73 victory over Smith and North Carolina, putting the Jayhawks in the NCAA title game against Duke.

1991-92: Kansas went 27-5 and was ranked as high as No. 2 in the national polls. The Jayhawks won the conference by three full games and beat Oklahoma State in the Big Eight Tournament title game.

1992-93: Kansas won its third straight Big Eight crown – again by three full games – was ranked No. 1 for two weeks and posted a 29-7 record. In the NCAA Tournament, KU defeated Ball State, Brigham Young, California and No. 1-ranked Indiana to win the Midwest Regional en route to the Final Four for the second time in three years. There, the Jayhawks were ousted by eventual champion North Carolina. It was the second and final time Williams' and Smith's teams faced each other.

1993-94: Kansas won the Preseason NIT for the second time and advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16.

1994-95: Kansas finished 11-3 in the Big Eight to win its fourth league title in five seasons. Impressive non-league wins over No. 1 Massachusetts, No. 2 Connecticut and No. 6 Florida followed to help Kansas earn a No. 1 seed in the Midwest Regional, where it advanced to the Sweet 16.

1995-96: The Jayhawks closed out the Big Eight by winning their fifth title in six years. Kansas, which also had non-league wins over UCLA, Utah and Indiana, earned a No. 2 seed in the NCAA West Regional, where it advanced to the Elite Eight before losing to Syracuse.

1996-97: Despite injuries to senior starters Jacque Vaughn, Scot Pollard and Jerod Haase, the Jayhawks established KU records with a 22-0 start and 29 regular-season victories. Kansas won the league by four games with a 15-1 record, then won the first Big 12 postseason tournament title. Kansas concluded the season at 34-2 after losing to eventual NCAA champion Arizona in the Sweet 16.

1997-98: First-team All-Americas Raef LaFrentz and Paul Pierce led Kansas to a school record-tying 35 wins, its second-straight Big 12 crown and Big 12 Tournament title. The Jayhawks, who won the Preseason NIT in November, went 35-4 overall and 15-1 in the Big 12.

1998-99: Led by seniors Ryan Robertson and T.J. Pugh, KU went 23-10 and won its third-straight Big 12 Tournament title. The Jayhawks lost a hard-fought overtime game to Kentucky in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

1999-00: One of the youngest teams in KU history fought through numerous injuries to compile a 24-10 record. When Nick Collison, Drew Gooden and Kirk Hinrich all appeared in the starting lineup, it marked the first time since the 1982-83 campaign that three freshmen started a game.

2000-01: KU led the nation in field goal percentage defense and went 26-7, finished second in the Big 12 regular-season race and advanced to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1997 before bowing to No. 1 seed Illinois.

2001-02: The Jayhawks went 33-4, won the Big 12 with an unprecedented 16-0 record and advanced to the Final Four for the first time since 1993. KU tied a school record by beating nine ranked opponents and set a school record by scoring 100 or more points 12 times. Williams was named Big 12 Coach of the Year and Gooden was named Big 12 Player of the Year and first-team All-America.

2002-03: Kansas went 30-8, including a 14-2 record in the Big 12 that produced Williams' ninth regular-season conference title. STEVE ROBINSON

Steve Robinson

Assistant Coach

Third season at Carolina

College: Radford, 1981

Steve Robinson is in his third year as an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina and his 11th as a member of Roy Williams' coaching staff.

Last year, Carolina went 33-4, won the ACC regular-season title and beat the No. 1 ranked team in the nation to win the 2005 NCAA championship. Robinson helped coach four players who were selected in the first round of the 2005 NBA Draft, including Final Four MVP Sean May and ACC Rookie of the Year Marvin Williams. Raymond Felton won the Bob Cousy Award as the top point guard in the country.

It was only the second time in NBA history one school had four players chosen in the top 14 selections of one draft.

The Tar Heels averaged 88.0 points per game, the 10th time in as many years that Robinson has teamed with Williams to coach a squad averaging 80 or more points. The Tar Heels were No. 1 in the nation in scoring and assists, fifth in field goal accuracy and seventh in three-point shooting.

In 2003-04, Robinson helped Carolina to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. He coached three different Tar Heels who led the ACC in scoring, rebounding and assists. His primary responsibilities include scouting, recruiting and bench coaching. He was named one of the top 25 recruiters in college basketball.

Robinson was head coach at the University of Tulsa for two years (1995-97) and at Florida State University for five years (1997-2002). Only one active ACC assistant coach has more years as a Division I head coach.

As head coach at Florida State, he led the Seminoles to the second round of the 1998 NCAA Tournament, becoming the first coach in school history to qualify for the NCAA Tournament in his first season. The Seminoles went 18-14, beat No. 5 ranked Arizona, the defending champions, and upset fifth-seed TCU in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

Robinson was head coach at Tulsa in 1995-96 and 1996-97. He led the Golden Hurricane to a 46-18 record and back-to-back appearances in the NCAA Tournament. In his first year, Tulsa won 22 games and won the Missouri Valley Tournament for the first time in 10 years. In 1996-97, Tulsa went 24-10 and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. For his efforts, Robinson was named the Coach of the Year in the WAC Mountain Division. The 24 wins were the second-most in Tulsa history. Robinson coached future NBA players Michael Ruffin and Shea Seals and WAC standout Eric Coley while at Tulsa.

Robinson has a record of 266-74 (.782) on the bench with Williams.

He was an assistant at Kansas from 1988-95 and in 2002-03, during which the Jayhawks posted a combined record of 214-59. The Jayhawks won five Big Eight Conference regular-season titles and made Final Four appearances in 1991 and 1993. He was the team's academic coordinator; nine players made the Big Eight All-Academic Team and 37 had grade point averages of 3.0 or better.

He coached a number of Kansas standouts, including first-team All-Americas Jacque Vaughn and Raef LaFrentz, All-Big Eight selections Kevin Pritchard, Mark Randall, Adonis Jordan and Rex Walters and Big Eight Newcomer of the Year Jerod Haase.

Before joining Williams in 1988, Robinson spent two years as an assistant coach at Cornell and three seasons at his alma mater, Radford. In 1988, Cornell won the Ivy League title and advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 35 years.

A native of Roanoke, Va., Robinson graduated from William Fleming High School, and attended Ferrum Junior College, where he played basketball for two seasons. He was one of three student-athletes to receive Radford's first athletic scholarships, and was team captain in 1980 and 1981. He earned his bachelor's degree in health and physical education in 1981 and his master's degree in counseling in 1985, both from Radford.

He is a member of both the Ferrum Junior College and Radford University Halls of Fame.

Robinson was born Oct. 29, 1957. He and his wife, Lisa, have four children – daughters, Shauna (26) and Kiaya (13), and sons, Tarron (17) and Denzel (14).

Robinson on Roy Williams:

"Coach Williams has an incredible ability to get our players focused on each and every game. He doesn't waste a moment of time. He's highly competitive and loves the challenge of winning tough game situations. More importantly, Coach totally embodies a man of moral character. His genuine sincerity, honesty and integrity speak volumes about him. Anyone who has played for or coached with him knows he's only a phone call away. He's a friend and mentor for life."

Roy Williams on Robinson:

"Steve Robinson gives us an added dimension to our club in that he was a head coach for seven years. He understands the unique problems that a head coach faces. He always gives the coaches and players great guidance when it comes to what the head coach is dealing with. He's tremendously loyal and a joy to be around for all these years."

Jerod Haase

Assistant Coach

Third season at Carolina

College: Kansas, 1997

Jerod Haase

Jerod Haase, a Naismith and Wooden Award candidate while playing shooting guard at the University of Kansas, is in his third year at North Carolina and his seventh season as a member of Roy Williams' staff.

This is Haase's second year as a coach assistant. He also coaches the UNC junior varsity squad. Last year, Haase was director of basketball operations, assisted with strength and conditioning and was an analyst on the Tar Heel Sports Network. The Tar Heels went 33-4 that year and won the NCAA title. That was the third Final Four Haase has been part of as a member of Williams' staff. While at Kansas, the Jayhawks played in the 2002 Final Four and the 2003 national championship game.

Kansas and Carolina have combined to win 165 of 209 games (79 percent) in his seven years on Williams' staff. Haase was on the UNC bench in 2003-04 as the Tar Heels went 19-11 record and returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in three years.

Haase attended the University of California in 1992-93, and then transferred to Kansas. He helped lead the Jayhawks to three consecutive conference titles and finished his career ranked in the Top 10 among school leaders in assists, three-point field goals and steals.

He started 99 of 101 games at Kansas and scored 1,264 points, an average of 12.5 per game. Haase scored in double figures 74 times, including 20 or more points 13 times.

Haase on Roy Williams:

"His work ethic, his honesty and integrity makes the players learn to trust him and play hard for him. You want to do everything for Coach. You learn to play hard for him because you respect and love him like he's a family member. Relationships are so important to Coach Williams, his coaching style and his program."

Roy Williams on Haase:

"Jerod has a real feel for the game. I love how much he cares. As a player he came the closest to caring as much as I did as any player I have ever coached. He gave tremendous effort as a player and he does the same thing as a coach."

In his three years, the Jayhawks went 89-13 and were ranked No. 5, 4 and 1 in the nation in the final media poll. As a senior, Haase started with Jacque Vaughn, Scot Pollard, Paul Pierce and Raef LaFrentz as Kansas went 34-2. He averaged 12.0 points despite playing with a broken wrist.

He scored a career-high 30 points against Temple as a junior. That year he was named to the Big Eight All-Defensive Team. He scored 16 points, including the game-winning three-point field goal, to beat Arizona, 83-80, in the 1996 NCAA regional semifinal.

As a sophomore in 1994-95, the South Lake Tahoe, Calif., native was named the Big Eight Conference Newcomer of the Year and was a second-team all-conference selection. He led Kansas with 15.0 points a game, including a season-high 26 against Missouri and 20 against No. 2-ranked Connecticut.

He started 23 games in 1992-93 as a freshman at Cal, where he teamed in the backcourt with Jason Kidd. Haase scored 13 points in the Bears' NCAA second round win over Duke.

In 1995, Haase teamed with Tim Duncan, Allen Iverson and Kerry Kittles to win the gold medal at the World University Games.

C.B. McGrath

Director of Basketball Operations

Third season at Carolina

College: Kansas, 1998

C.B. McGrath is in his third year at the University of North Carolina and his seventh season as a member of Roy Williams' basketball staff. McGrath played point guard for Williams at Kansas. He was a team captain in 1997-98 and lettered in four seasons.

McGrath assists with all day-to-day aspects of the UNC basketball program. He oversees the administrative aspects of the Roy Williams Carolina Basketball Camp, coordinates team video and the high school coaches clinic.

Last year, McGrath was an assistant coach for the first time as the Tar Heels went 33-4, won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 record and claimed the 2005 NCAA championship with a 75-70 win over Illinois. Point guard Raymond Felton earned first-team All-ACC and All-NCAA Final Four honors and was the winner of the Bob Cousy Award as the top point guard in the nation.

McGrath also coached UNC's junior varsity program.

In his seven years on Williams' staff at Kansas and Carolina, those teams have a combined record of 165-44 and have played in three Final Fours.

McGrath earned a scholarship prior to the start of his freshman season at Kansas. He was the top reserve behind first-team All-America Jacque Vaughn in 1994-95 and Ryan Robertson as a senior.

During his playing career, the Jayhawks won four Big Eight or Big 12 regular-season championships and the Big 12 Tournament championship in 1997 and 1998. Kansas went 123-17 and was ranked No. 5, 4, 1 and 2 in the nation, respectively, in the final Associated Press polls.

The Jayhawks were a perfect 58-0 at Allen Fieldhouse in McGrath's career.

In 1997-98, McGrath was a tri-captain, along with Raef LaFrentz and Billy Thomas. McGrath also teamed with Greg Ostertag, Scot Pollard and Paul Pierce and roomed with current Tar Heel assistant coach Jerod Haase.

McGrath played in 112 career games, scored 82 points, had 113 assists and 35 steals. He had better than a 2:1 assist to turnover ratio, including 61 assists and just 24 turnovers as a senior. He scored his first basket as a freshman — a three-pointer — at NC State's Reynolds Coliseum.

He was a two-time Academic All-Big 12 selection.

Colin Bryan (C.B.) McGrath was born Nov. 21, 1975, in Indianapolis, Ind. He is one of 20 members of his family who have attended the University of Kansas.

McGrath attended Topeka West High School, where he earned 13 varsity letters in basketball, cross country, track and golf. He was the Kansas High School Player of the Year in basketball as a senior and placed in the top 10 in the state in cross country and golf.

He earned a B.A. in human biology and a master's degree in education. McGrath was married in 2001 to Kris Sell, who played tennis at KU and was the Big 12 Player of the Year. Kris is an assistant director of marketing at Carolina athletics. She coordinates the popular 'Late Night with Roy,' at the start of each basketball season.

McGrath on Roy Williams:

"Coach Williams treats everybody fairly, not necessarily the same, and as a person. You could have made 25 turnovers in practice and he could yell at you on every one of them, but once you leave the court he might say, 'Good luck on your test,' or, 'You'll have a better day tomorrow.' There's no carry over, it's not just strictly basketball with him. He wants to know how you are doing in all facets of your life and he tries to help you out, too. That's why he's so special."

Roy Williams on McGrath:

"I loved coaching C.B. and continue to love having him as part of our staff. He does a phenomenal job with every duty he has, whether it is coaching, running our huge summer camp or the coaches clinic. He had a great run last year with our JV team and enjoyed his year coaching with the varsity, as well."

"That was one of the main reasons I went to Carolina. A lot of the other programs were telling me how I could be this and that, but Carolina always talked about getting an education first. WHY CAROLINA?

Sean May
Charlotte Bobc

"Coming to Carolina is the best decision I've ever made. People in this community opened their arms to me.It's a place where I can always say I love. It's a place where I can always call home, where I can see myself living for a long time. I'm forever grateful for my memories here and the people I've met here, the relationships I've developed. It's something I'll always cherish for the rest of my life.

"Whenever I come back, people are going to know me because I was on a national championship team. That's part of the greatest memory, that you'll have an impact on people's lives you never met, you don't know, who aren't your age, who are four, five, six, seven years old who are starting to learn the game. And one of the reasons they'll want to come to Carolina is they saw you play and they saw the way you represented the university."

urrent and former players on the Tar Heel family

ormer Tar Heel Michael Jordan stopped by a practice last season.

"Playing at Carolina has been everything plus more. The people here are so great around Franklin Street, on campus, off campus. You don't have any really bad days. When you do have bad days there's people here to pick you up. Just being around this program, being around the people here is something I'll cherish for the rest of my life. Even when I go away I'll come back to Chapel Hill because a part of it is in me. When you have that type close-knit relationship with a place it's hard to leave. That played a big factor in Coach Williams coming back. He spent so much time here and then to go to Kansas for 15 years, that piece of Carolina was still calling him and that's why he had to come back. The tradition and the people you have in Carolina basketball is big. For me to be a part of that, I can't even put it into words. Being associated in the same sentence as Michael Jordan, James Worthy, Coach Smith, Coach Williams, and Raymond Felton...that's something big and for me to be a part of that is just a blessing in the sky."

– Senior David Noel

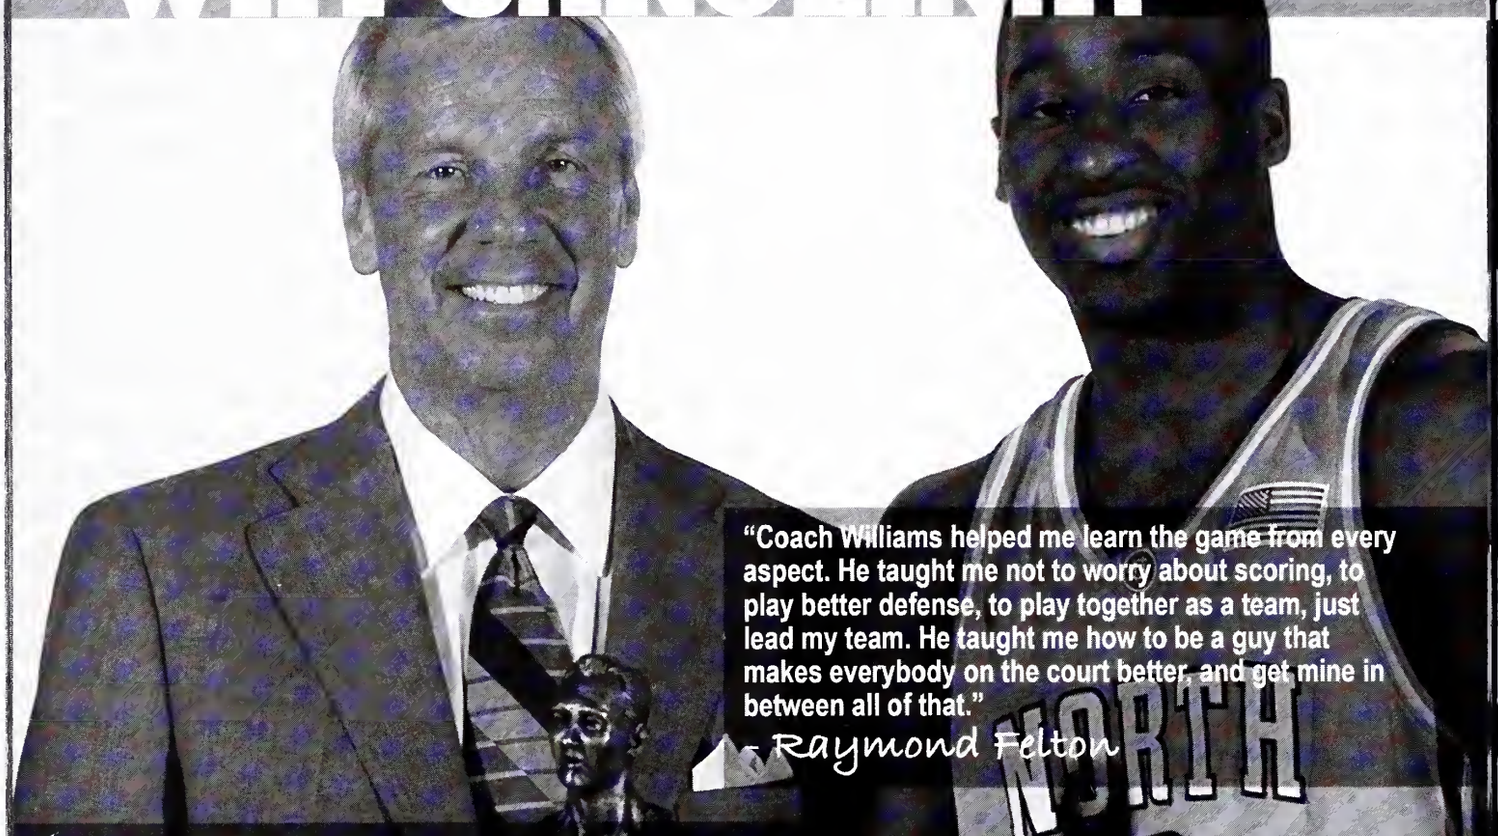
WHY CAROLINA?

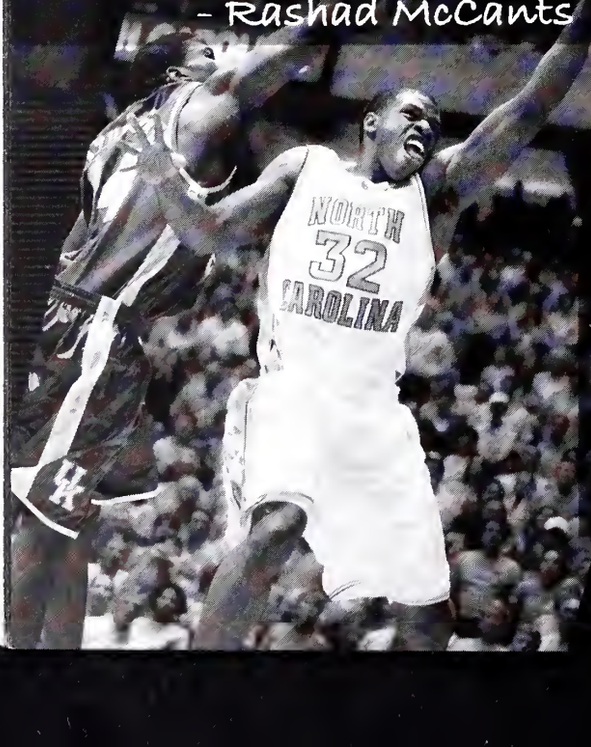


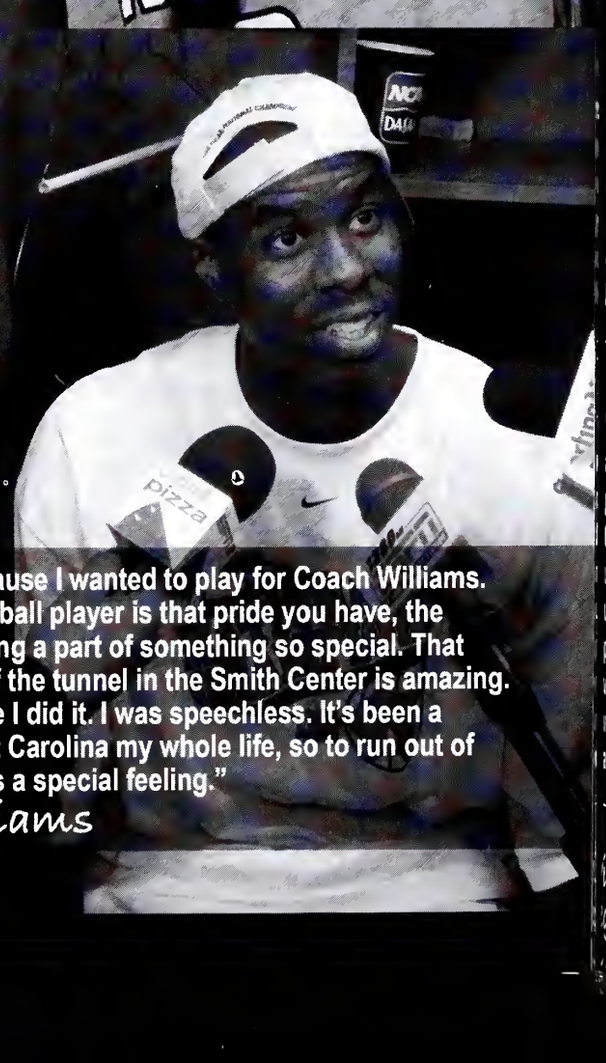
"Coach Williams helped me learn the game from every aspect. He taught me not to worry about scoring, to play better defense, to play together as a team, just lead my team. He taught me how to be a guy that makes everybody on the court better, and get mine in between all of that."

– Raymond Felton

"When you listen to One Shining Moment, you think of being a player at Carolina. You remember everything you've done, especially on the basketball court, in the weight room, all the places you've been with the team, all the things you've done, all the plays you've run, all the practices you've had...If you were a basketball player and you loved to play, then you can remember Carolina as something greater than life because it is an experience you will never forget."

– Rashad McCants





"I came to Carolina because I wanted to play for Coach Williams. Being a Carolina Basketball player is that pride you have, the tradition of winning, being a part of something so special. That feeling of running out of the tunnel in the Smith Center is amazing. I remember the first time I did it. I was speechless. It's been a dream of mine to play at Carolina my whole life, so to run out of the tunnel every game is a special feeling."

– Marvin Williams

ROY WILLIAMS

Coach Williams is a great coach. He's going o teach you the fundamentals of the game nd off the court he cares about his kids. He vants the best for his kids. He's going to ush you; he's trying to bring the best out f you. If I have a son, I would definitely let im play for Coach Williams."

Jackie Manuel

Winning the national championship means ll the preparation we had done to get to that oint has paid off. And you sit back and hink, all the things we did were perfect for s. You have to commend a coach to nderstand that - he just designed something erfect for a bunch of players who had never on anything and for us to do everything that e've done in this short period of time is mazing."

When ESPN's award-winning Sports Century program selected the greatest coaches of the 20th Century, it came to no surprise that Carolina basketball coach Dean Smith was among the top seven of all-time. Smith joined other legends Red Auerbach, Bear Bryant, George Halas, Vince Lombardi, John McGraw and John Wooden as the preeminent coaches in sports history.

Smith's tenure as Carolina's basketball coach from 1960-97 is a record of remarkable achievement and consistency. In 36 seasons at UNC, Smith's teams had a record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other Division I men's basketball college coach in history.

• Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of his final 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons.

• Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year from 1981-89. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top 10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

• The Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final Top 15 teams in 28 of his last 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996, and were among the Top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Smith's teams finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).

• Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the ACC. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

• The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

• Smith's teams finished in the ACC upper division all but one time. That was in 1964, when Caolina was fif and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season pl under Smith at 6-8.

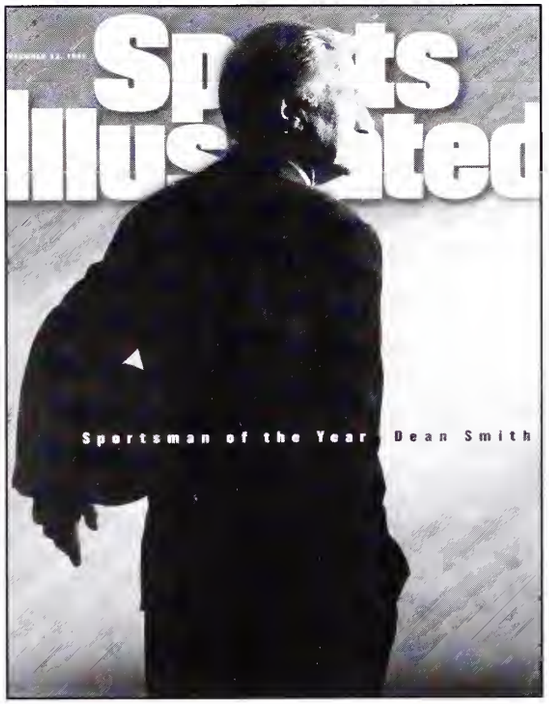
• Carolina won 13 ACC Tournaments under Smit Mike Krzyzewski of Duke ranks second in AC Tournament titles with nine.

• His teams played in 11 Final Fours, second in numb only to Wooden who had 12.

• Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appe ances in the NCAA Tournament. Arizona's Lute Olson h the second-longest streak in history at 21.

• In his last 31 years, Smith led the Tar Heels into t NCAA Tournament 27 times. That is an NCAA reco (now shared with Bob Knight).

• Carolina reached the Sweet 16 of NCAA play ea season from 1981-93. That 13-year streak is the secon longest in Tournament history to a 14-year stretch UCLA from 1967 to 1980.



Dean Smith was named the 1997 Sports Illustrated Sportsman of the Year.

The awards and accolades continue to be given Smith, even after he stepped down as Carolina's he coach on October 9, 1997. Smith was named Sportsman the Year by Sports Illustrated, Honorary Coach of the Ye by the United States Olympic Committee, received t Arthur Ashe Award for Courage at the annual ESP Awards, and was honored with special awards for cont butions to basketball by the Atlanta Tipoff Club and Ne York Athletic Club.

Smith also became the first recipient of the Ment Award for Lifetime Achievement, given by the Univers of North Carolina Committee on Teaching Awards for broader range of teaching beyond the classroom."

He's recognized throughout the sports world for h character, his innovations to the game and his ability have established Carolina's program as one of the great in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produ on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

When Smith broke Rupp's record in 1997, his coachi peers had this to say.

John Wooden: "What's more impressive to me abo Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of ba ketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketb than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players t things Dean has taught them. I've admired him becau there's more to him than just wins."

Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't s He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's t way it should be. But let me put it in perspective. I being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do through all the years without ever having a problem w any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very s gular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it' great achievement, indicative of a guy who really kno how to coach and has decided from day one that things going to be done the absolute right way. He's not going tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, gr accomplishment for a coach."

Mike Krzyzewski: "It's singularly such a tremend accomplishment. Whatever is written about him in a po tive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit. we all would, to the players who have played for us, bu this situation the praise for him should rise well above t for the players who played for him."

Roy Williams: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. ıd when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire es, their entire existence ... and what they're going to do after they ıve you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature."

Dave Odom: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the mbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on ery single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often d there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, 's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever ink about it, I shake my head in wonder."

Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the CC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The rolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped cre- national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other C teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a up of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete well and Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball m in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans finished a controver- second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the llenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a up of improving international teams.

He named his long-time assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's n Thompson, to be his assistants on the mpic Team staff. Smith's teaching skills re put to one of their toughest tests.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into ohesive unit during a few short weeks in that mmer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, eeping through the Games undefeated and ting Yugoslavia in the championship game. phasizing a tough pressure defense and a -breaking, attacking style on offense, the ericans returned to the top of the internation- ame.

ust as Smith used his talents to develop that 6 all-star team into an Olympic champion, as prepared a host of players for successful ers in the NBA.

UNC is a plus-four school," Orlando Magic e President of Basketball Operations-Player sonnel John Gabriel said about Smith's ns, "meaning that if I rate a player as the -best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar l automatically jumps him to number six. plus-four rating is based upon the success ormer Tar Heels in the NBA."

he Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

During his last 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, the Tar Heels had a record of 813-207, winning 79.7 percent of their games.

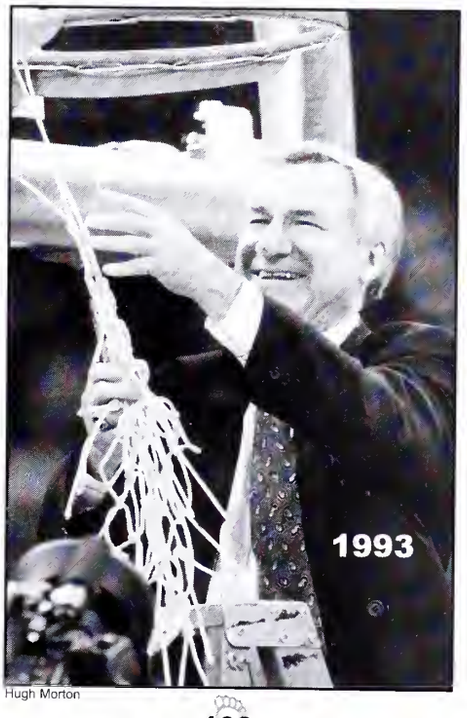
In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina won either the ACC regular-season, tournament or both. Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it became a habit. No school in the country won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA was second with 751. The Tar Heels also had the most wins over his last 20 seasons with 539, and over his last 10 years with 268.

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right.

Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and the NIT in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell and Bob Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

A key to Smith's success was his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play. He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.



Hugh Morton

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Carolina failed to hit at least 50 percent from the field just four time in his last 27 years. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year.

Among Smith's many innovations were the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teaming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA title in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

4-05 NCAA champions

Smith was an assistant coach at Kansas to Phog Allen and Dick Harp, then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. In 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Many of his assistants went on to head coaching jobs, including Larry Brown, Roy Williams, John Lotz, Kenny Rosemond, Eddie Fogler, Randy Wiel and Bill Guthridge.

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality college coaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, more than 50 of his players went on to play pro basketball in the NBA or ABA and more played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

Six of Smith's players won rookie of the year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Scott, Robert McAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Vince Carter.

"Coach taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quickness, when to use that first step, or how to apply certain skills in certain situations," says Jordan. "Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to score 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

Smith coached players who went on to become doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Better than 95 percent of his lettermen earned their degrees.

NBA head coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world."

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience — the things that we learned away from the game.

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult."

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty. He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year. That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said, 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has. He won in the '60s, '70s, '80s and '90s and if you look his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or l behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young. He's learned to d with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

Smith was the winningest coach in the history of the NCA Tournament with 65 victories (currently s ond). In 36 ACC Tournaments, he had coaching record of 58-23, a winning perce age of .716.

Smith, who played for the legendary Ph Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is one only two men to both play on and coach NCAA championship team. Smith was member of the Jayhawk squad that won c lege basketball's top prize in 1952. He t coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 19 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Bob Kni played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coac Indiana to three titles.

After taking Carolina to the NCAA championship game in 1977, Sm was named National Coach of the Year by the NABC. He received si lar honors from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and Basket Weekly in 1979 and from Medalist in 1982. He was named the Naism National Coach of the Year in 1993 after leading the Tar Heels to national crown.

In 1993, the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association named Smith ACC Coach of the Year, an honor he received on seven other occasi as well—1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979 and 1988.

ll of Fame
Coached Carolina to the 1957
CAA championship
Was a three-time national
ach of the year.

Frank McGuire came to Chapel Hill prior to the 1952-53 season after five seasons at St. John's. His 1952 team had reached the NCAA championship game before losing to Kansas.

His nine-year record was 164-58. Carolina finished first or tied for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings five times in this period.

With his many contacts among New York high school coaches, he developed a pipeline of top talent for Carolina. This "underground railroad" brought players like Lennie Rosenbluth, Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg and Bob Cunningham to Chapel Hill. They were the starters on McGuire's greatest team — the 1957 squad that went 32-0 and swept the NCAA title.

McGuire also brought New York-area stars like York Larese, Doug Moe, Donnie Walsh, Larry Brown and Billy Cunningham to Carolina.

ional player of the year Lennie Rosenbluth and Guire led the Tar Heels to the 1957 NCAA title.

The highlight of McGuire's Tar Heel career was 1957. Rosenbluth was one of the national scoring leaders, averaging 28.0 points a game. Of Carolina's 32 victories, 13 were by 10 points or less.

The 1957 Final Four in Kansas City is regarded as one of the most exciting ever played. Carolina topped Michigan State, 74-40, in a triple-overtime semifigame. The next game the Tar Heels had to go three overtimes again ore outlasting Kansas, featuring Wilt Chamberlain, 54-53.

McGuire hired Dean Smith to be his top assistant prior to the 1958-
Smith replaced McGuire when he moved to the NBA in 1961.
As coach of the Philadelphia Warriors, he led his team to a 49-31
ord. The Warriors—with Hall of Famers Paul Arizin, Tom Gola and mberlain—lost to the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Conference ls.
McGuire returned to the college ranks for the 1964-65 season at South olina. He compiled a 283-142 record in 16 seasons with the ecocks. That gave him a career record of 549-236 in 30 years. He e NCAA championship game. He remains the only man in history to ACC titles at two schools.

He was named national coach of the year three times—in 1952 at St.

In his tenure at UNC, he coached five National Players of the Year, six ACC Players of the Year, five ACC Rookies of the Year and 28 first-team All-ACC players. He also coached 66 players who were selected in the NBA and/or ABA Drafts.

Guthridge was an assistant coach along with Hall of Famer John Thompson under Dean Smith in 1976 when the United States won the Olympic gold medal in Montreal.

1957 NCAA CHAMPIONS

North Carolina's march toward the NCAA championship in the 1957 Final Four provided legendary head coach Frank McGuire with the defining moment of his career and the Tar Heel faithful with more than a few tense moments.

Battle-torn and weary, the Tar Heels faced a seemingly insurmountable challenge as they headed into the third overtime period against Kansas in the national championship game.

Having already taken three overtime periods to defeat Michigan State in the semifinals, the Tar Heels found themselves without national player of the year Lennie Rosenbluth, who had fouled out in the waning moments of regulation. They were playing a Kansas team led by Hall of Famer Wilt Chamberlain in the not so friendly confines of Kansas City, Mo.

The Tar Heels fought on without Rosenbluth and found themselves behind by one point in the final seconds of the third overtime. After a missed shot, the ball landed in the hands of junior center Joe Quigg near the top of the key. All that stood between him and the national title was Chamberlain.

Lennie Rosenbluth & Wilt Chamberlain

Quigg drove the lane, drawing a foul from Chamberlain with six seconds remaining. After a Carolina time out, Quigg, a 72 percent free throw shooter, calmly stepped to the line and drained both shots, securing a 54-53 victory and Carolina's second national championship. Carolina finished the season a perfect 32-0 en route to the Tar Heels' first NCAA championship.

Rosenbluth had 20 points and five rebounds in the championship game and Quigg scored 10 points and garnered nine rebounds.

Carolina had its fair share of overtime experience entering the Final Four, securing an overtime victory over South Carolina and a double overtime victory over Maryland in the regular season.

That experience may have been the difference as the Tar Heels continually came through with clutch plays throughout the Final Four. In the semifinal, neither team was able to open more than a six-point lead as Michigan State tested Carolina's mettle throughout the game.

Pete Brennan & Frank McGuire

Junior forward Pete Brennan kept Carolina's championship hope alive when he nailed a baseline jumper with three seconds remaining i the first overtime to extend the game to another period. Both team struggled in the second overtime, scoring only one bucket each. Carolir finally pulled away in the third overtime period scoring the first si points and holding on to a 74-70 victory.

Rosenbluth was the star of the 1957 squad. His 27 points and 8 rebounds a game in regular season play led the Tar Heels to the AC championship and the NCAA tournament berth. Three of the victorie came over fellow Big Four and ACC team Wake Forest, with whor Carolina had developed an intense rivalry.

At the end of his senior season, Rosenbluth held on to every majo Carolina basketball record except for free-throw percentage and tot rebounds in a season.

The championship season was Carolina's only trip to the Final Fo under the tutelage of Frank McGuire, who left in 1961 to coach in th NBA. He later went on to coach at South Carolina. In nine year McGuire led the Tar Heels to three Top 10 finishes and six Top 20 fi ishes.

The next Final Four appearance for the Tar Heels came und McGuire's replacement, Dean Smith, who began his Final Four legac in 1967.

1982 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Every Carolina Basketball fan remembers The Shot. It is the most nous play in Tar Heel history and one of the most famous in college nletics. It won Dean Smith his first national championship and inched Michael Jordan as the greatest player in the sport's history.

Eric "Sleepy" Floyd had just hit a jumper in the lane to give eorgetown a 62-61 lead as 61,612 fans looked on at the New Orleans perdome. Carolina called a timeout with 32 seconds remaining. Smith structed point guard Jimmy Black to draw the Hoya zone defense to e side of the court and look to get the ball inside to James Worthy. But ack couldn't get the ball to Worthy. Smith had designed the play so at if that happened, Black could swing the ball to an open man on the side of the court. Black found that open man, freshman Michael rdan.

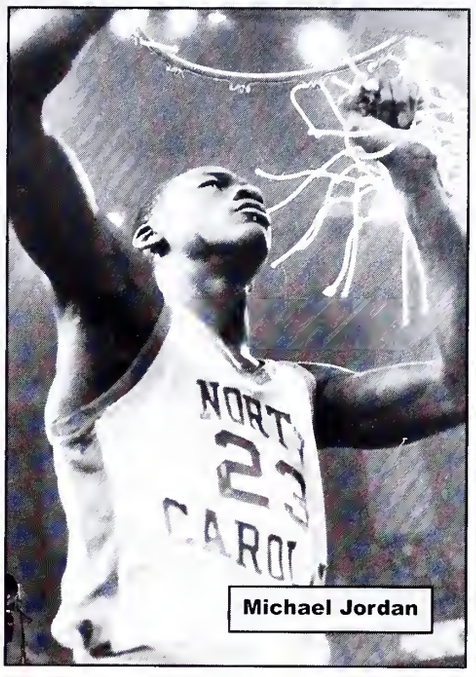
Jordan stood 16 feet to the left of the basket. Catch-jump-shoot. No sitation. The ball found the bottom of the net. Carolina 63, orgetown 62. Fifteen seconds remained on the clock.

Georgetown's Fred Brown got the ball near mid-court and looked for open teammate. He passed the ball in Floyd's direction, but instead ind Worthy, who ed downcourt th the ball to seal victory. It was propriate that rthy clinched the n, since he had eady muscled and essed his way ough the Hoya fense en route to e dunks and 28 nts.

Worthy was not imidated by the acious defense of ya freshman cen- Patrick Ewing, o logged two cked shots and ee steals to go h his 23 points l 11 rebounds. roughout the ne, Worthy chal- ged the Hoyas ntline and hit 13 his 17 field goal empts.

Carolina advanced he title game with a 63 semifinal victo- over Houston. Sam kins had 25 points l 10 rebounds. UNC began and ished the year ked No. 1 in the untry in the sociated Press poll. fact, Carolina held No. 1 ranking for but five weeks in 81-82.

The Tar Heels post- ed a 32-2 record, losing only to Wake Forest at home when Perkins was sick and did not play and at Virginia. Carolina did beat the Cavaliers, 47-45, in the ACC Tournament championship game in Greensboro. Worthy had 16 points and Matt Doherty had 11 points and four assists. Carolina led 34-31 at the half, but the game is most remembered for the Tar Heels using a delay game in the second half. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 to play, Carolina held the ball. Doherty hit three free throws in the last 28 seconds to win the game.



Michael Jordan

Top-ranked and top-seeded Carolina then survived a scare from James Madison in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, beating the Dukes, 52-50, in Charlotte. A 74-69 win over Alabama and a 70-60 triumph over Villanova in Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum sent the Tar Heels to New Orleans for the Final Four.

Senior guard Jimmy Black was one of five starters in double figures in the regional final win over Villanova. Black had 11 points and 10 assists.

Dean Smith on 1982 — "We had three starters back from the year before, plus Matt Doherty, who I counted as a co-starter in 1981. Two of our best games all year were in New Orleans against Houston and Georgetown. Jordan had his best game as a freshman in the final, but Worthy was the obvious MVP. His play gets overshadowed because of Michael's shot. And Perkins was a true hero for his play against Olajuwon in the semifinals. He was sensational.

The play was No. 1 to post up Worthy, then have Perkins come in behind him. Or you could go crosscourt to the wing for Michael and he was wide open from 17-18 feet. It looked good, I was right in line with him. Then we we put on our scramble defense. Worthy was out of position, but Jordan stopped the pass that made Fred Brown throw it away."

1993 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Dean Smith had been there before. The last time his Tar Heels walked on the Superdome floor, they walked off as NCAA champions.

Now, after a grueling ACC season that included five other Top 25 teams; after a tough road through the East Regional bracket that required an overtime victory to escape the final; after defeating a Roy Williams-coached Kansas squad that had beaten the Tar Heels just two years prior in the national semifinal— Carolina was back on the Superdome floor playing for the national championship.

The 1993 Tar Heels were ready. Center Eric Montross and senior forward George Lynch anchored the team and shooting guard Donald Williams provided the spark from the outside. Point guard Derrick Phelps ran the offense and a handful of role players brought everything together in typical Dean Smith fashion.

Michigan was ready too, though. The raucous Wolverines, led by vocal center Chris Webber and the rest of the "Fab Five," had lost the championship game in 1992 and were hungry to redeem themselves. They won a hard-fought overtime battle against Jamal Mashburn and the Kentucky Wildcats in the national semifinal, 81-78, and were confident they would return to Ann Arbor with a championship.

The styles of the two teams couldn't have been any farther apart. The Tar Heels were a traditional Dean Smith team — talented, disciplined and focused. The Wolverines had brought a brash, new feel to the game, famous for their black shoes, baggy shorts and playground style of play.

The teams battled back and forth throughout the game. Michigan led by 10 in the first half, but Carolina rallied for a 42-36 lead at intermission. The Wolverines built a 67-63 lead with 4:30 left to play, but the Tar Heels scored nine unanswered points to take a 72-67 lead with 1:03 to play.

Trailing by four, Williams began the 9-0 run with a three-pointer, then Phelps hit a fastbreak layup to give UNC the lead with 3:07 to play. Baskets by Lynch and Montross upped the lead to five with a minute to go.

Michigan responded with a Ray Jackson jump shot and a Chris Webber put-back to bring the Wolverines back to within 72-71 with 36 seconds to play.

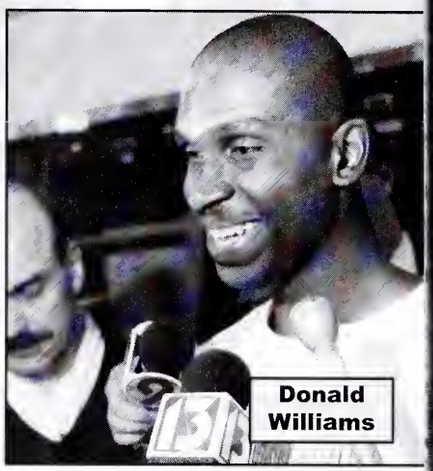
Carolina junior forward Pat Sullivan was fouled with 20 seconds left and went to the line for a one-and-one. Sullivan connected on the first, but missed the second and Webber got the rebound with the Wolverines trailing 73-71.

Webber stumbled and appeared to travel, but the officials made no call. He then dribbled past halfcourt and found himself surrounded by the Tar Heels and called a timeout. However, Michigan did not have any timeouts remaining and the officials called a technical foul on the Michigan bench.

Williams hit two free throws and Carolina marched on to a 77-71 victory. It was only appropriate that Williams stood at the line at the end of the game, as he dominated the Final Four en route to Most Outstanding Player honors. Williams made five of seven three pointers and scored 25 points in both the national semifinal and championship games.

The Tar Heels finished the season 34-4, winning 18 consecutive games at one point. Carolina had even faced Michigan early on in the season at the Rainbow Classic and lost, 79-78, courtesy a last-second shot from Wolverine point guard Jalen Rose.

The 18-game win streak was snapped by a 77-75 loss to Georgia Tech in the ACC Tournament championship game. The Tar Heels played that game without Phelps, who injured his back when he was fouled from behind on a layup attempt in the ACC semifinal against Virginia.



Donald Williams

Despite the loss to the Yellow Jackets, Carolina was No. 1 in the East Regional. Wins over East Carolina, Rhode Island and Arkansas setup a regional championship against Cincinnati in the Meadowlands. The Bearcats had played in the Final Four in 1992.

Nick Van Exel hit six three-pointers in the first half and the Bearca built a 29-14 lead with 7:08 left in the opening half, but the Tar Hee rallied to pull within one at halftime.

In the second half, Phelps clamped down on Van Exel, limiting hi to just one field goal.

Carolina led late in regulation, b Tarrance Gibson's driving layup with 35 se onds to play tied the game. The Tar Heels h a a chance to win at the buzzer, but Bri Reese's dunk attempt after an out-of-boun play with 0.8 seconds left ricocheted off t back iron.

Williams starred in overtime, hitting bac to-back three-pointers and the Tar Hee hung on for a 75-68 win.

Lynch was the heart and soul of the tea and recorded double-doubles in each of t last four NCAA Tournament victories.

Dean Smith on 1993 — "We had such great leader in George Lynch and o team had a lot of confidence. We were ve poised. I know I had a lot of confidence Derrick Phelps and Lynch. The last fo games all were close games. Arkansas we down to the wire, Cincinnati we should ha won in regulation, but won in overtim Michigan was a great game with Dona Williams hitting key shots. So many of tho games could have gone either way."

It began with an upset loss to Santa Clara l ended by beating No. 1 ranked Illinois in Louis. Along the way, the Tar Heels went
-4, won the ACC regular-season title with a
-2 record and defied the experts who said
y were too selfish to win a national title.

Instead, led by seniors Jawad Williams, rkie Manuel and Melvin Scott, and under tutelage of second-year head coach Roy lliams, the Tar Heels became the best team
he nation. Carolina led the country in scorand assists and held the opposition to 40
rcent shooting.

Center Sean May arguably became the est player in the country, racking up eight ight double-doubles and averaging 17.5
nts and 10.7 rebounds.

Point guard Raymond Felton joined May on All-ACC first team and won the Bob usy Award as the best point guard in the ntry. He led the ACC in assists and hit 44 cent from three-point range.

Carolina lost at Wake Forest and Duke, but ached its first outright conference title since 93 with a 75-73 win over the Blue Devils in regular-season finale. May had 26 points
l 24 rebounds and Marvin Williams capped ally from nine points behind with a three-nt play with 17 seconds remaining.

UNC survived a first round scare in the ACC Tournament from mson in large part thanks to Felton's career-high 29 points. But orgia Tech bounced the Tar Heels from in the semifinals behind Will num's 35 points.

Carolina earned a No. 1 seed and opened NCAA play in front of a rau-s crowd in Charlotte. UNC took out any lingering frustrations from ACC Tournament in the first half, shooting 73 percent from the floor route to a 59-33 advantage. Marvin Williams and Sean May combined 39 points and 16 rebounds and Carolina opened its title run with a 96-win.

owa State was next in round two. Leading 36-33, UNC closed the first with nine unanswered points. Iowa State never came within single ts in the second half. May had 24 points and 17 rebounds and Marvin liams added 20 points and 15 boards.

ifth-seeded Villanova gave Carolina a stern test in Syracuse in the eet 16. The Wildcats went to a four-guard offense and built a 21-9 lead way through the first half behind Randy Foye's hot shooting. May red 12 of UNC's 29 points as the Tar Heels clawed to within four at break. UNC took the lead for good on a McCants three with 7:20 to and extended its lead to 10 points with 3:45 remaining.

But Felton fouled out with 2:13 to play and the Wildcats pulled to with-4-62 with 40 seconds left. Scott, who took over the point, canned two throws for a four-point lead. Villanova made one free throw and had

Carolina finished first in Southern Conference play with a 13-1 record, but was beaten by Wake Forest in the SoCon Tournament semifinals. Duke won the postseason title, but the NCAA Committee selected Carolina to represent District 3 in the NCAA Tournament at New York's Madison Square Garden.

NYU was favored to beat UNC in the East Regional semifinal, but 27-year-old Bones McKinney scored 11 points to lead Carolina to a 57-49 win. McKinney originally played at NC State, but enrolled at Carolina in January 1946 after being discharged from the U.S. Army.

John "Hook" Dillon, a sophomore from Georgia and Carolina's leading scorer with 12.9 points per game, and Bob Paxton led Carolina past Ohio State in the East Regional final. The Buckeyes led by five with less than three minutes to play, but Paxton sent the game into overtime with a jump shot with under 20 seconds to play. Dillon scored the key shot in overtime as UNC held on for a 60-57 win.

Senior forward Bob Lewis earned regional MVP honors after scoring 31 points in the championship game. Miller added 22 points and center Rusty Clark posted a double-double with 18 points and 18 rebounds.

The Tar Heels lost to Dayton, 76-62, in the national semifinals in Louisville, Ky. Flyer forward Don May scored 34 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Clark had 19 points and 11 rebounds and Miller scored 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

"The big thing is we had to win the ACC Tournament before we could even go to the NCAA Tournament," says Coach Smith. "I was concerned about how we would do in the NCAAs in overcoming the excitement of winning the ACC Tournament. We did go to the Final Four with three sophomore starters that year. That was a thrilling time."

We lost our All-America center Tom LaGarde in February; then we had a great run. Walter couldn't shoot against Notre Dame, but Phil happened to make free throws even with his hyper-extended elbow. Carolina, led by forward Jason Capel, stymied third-ranked and No. 1 seed Stanford in the second round, holding the Cardinal to 34 percent shooting. Freshman Joseph Forte led all scorers with 17 points.

Forte scored 22 points and Carolina overcame a seven-point deficit with Haywood on the bench to beat Tennessee, 74-69, in Austin, Texas, in the regional semifinal. Cota scored key late baskets and Carolina got stellar post play off the bench from Julius Peppers.

"This was a determined group of players," says Guthridge. "They overcame a lot of adversity in the form of injuries, illness, and some tough losses, to get to the Final Four. I couldn't have been happier or prouder than I was for that group of players to make it to Indianapolis. We beat a good Missouri team and the top seed Stanford in Birmingham and that gave us great confidence to beat Tennessee and an outstanding Tulsa team."

Carolina won three straight ACC Tournaments from 1967-69. Overall, the Tar Heels have won 15 conference crowns and played in 26 championship games.

Frank McGuire's eventual national champions ran the table in the regular season, winning all 14 games. That year marked the first time UNC reached the conference tournament final since the 1947 Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semifinal and defeated South Carolina by 20 to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lennie Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle and a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship, scored 38 points and was named MVP.

1967

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time and was the site of Dean Smith's first title. Fittingly, Carolina won the title by sweeping its in-state rivals, beating NC State by three points, Wake Forest by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Larry Miller was selected MVP after scoring 25.7 points and grabbing 8.3 rebounds per game. Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds) joined Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad.

1968

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. The Gamecocks sent the game into overtime with an 18-4 run to tie the score at 74. The Tar Heels came from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and NC State to claim its 14th Tournament title. Junior guard Shammond Williams earned MVP honors, averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Tim Duncan-led Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest percentage ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

Antawn Jamison, Serge Zwikker and the Tar Heels won the ACC Tournament in 1997.

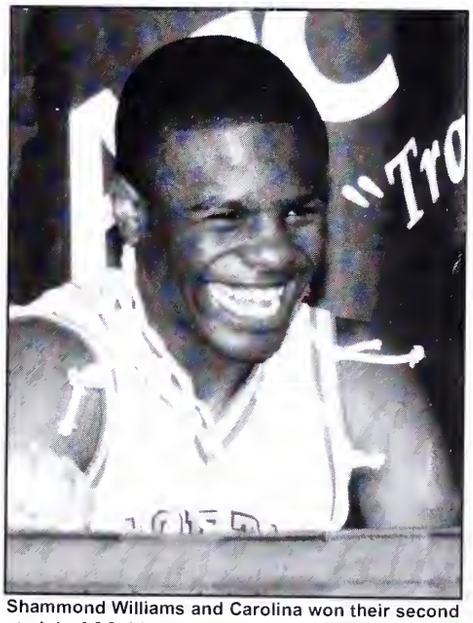
Carolina repeated as Tournament champions for the first time since 1981-82 with victories over NC State, Maryland and Duke. Those wins avenged regular-season losses against the same three opponents. Jamison injured a muscle in the overtime win over the Terrapins in the semifinal, and was questionable for Sunday's championship game. However, Jamison was relentless against the Blue Devils, sparking UNC to a 15-point win over the nation's top-ranked team with a 22-point, 18-rebound effort that ranks as one of the finest in championship game history.

Jamison had 25 points in the opening round win over the Wolfpack. The Tar Heels trailed throughout much of the second half against Maryland, but rallied behind Shammond Williams to force overtime. Williams added 10 points in the extra stanza to lead Carolina to an 83-73 triumph.

Carolina's win over Duke in the championship game was UNC's sixth in title game matchups against the Blue Devils. The game was tied at 57 with less than 11 minutes to play, but the Tar Heels reeled off the next 13 points. Carolina finished the game shooting 54.4 percent from the floor, while Duke hit on just 32.8 percent of its field goal attempts. Williams and Vince Carter had 19 and 16 points, respectively.



Shammond Williams and Carolina won their second straight ACC title in 1998.

FANTASTIC FINISHES

1957 Season

The Tar Heels had to pull out numerous close games to preserve their perfect 32-0 record and NCAA title. Win No. 17 was a 65-61 triumph over Maryland in double overtime. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73 over Duke. The Tar Heels beat Wake Forest for the fourth time in that one year in the ACC Tournament semifinals. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win.

Those close games were nothing compared to the drama that unfolded in the Final Four in Kansas City. The Tar Heels had to win back-to-back triple overtime games against Michigan State and Kansas to win UNC's first NCAA championship. Pete Brennan's jumper against Michigan State was a key play that extended the game into the second overtime. Joe Quigg's two free throws with six seconds remaining in the third overtime gave Carolina a 54-53 win over Kansas and Wilt Chamberlain in the final. In 1999, Sports Illustrated selected the 1957 NCAA title game as its second-favorite game of all-time.

Through its teaching, research and public service, the University of North Carolina is an educational and economic beacon for the people of North Carolina and beyond.

History

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the university was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president.

The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795.

Location

The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building are National Historic Landmarks.

The American Society of Landscape Architects selected the Carolina campus as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That listing is among the praise affirming the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with UNC.

Recent bond referendums have provided $510 million for renovations, repairs and new buildings so 21st century students at Carolina can learn in a 21st century environment. UNC's total $1.5 billion capital construction program is among the largest underway at any major American university.

UNC anchors one corner of the famed Research Triangle Park, which has played a vital role in nurturing the economic development of North Carolina.

Recent Rankings

Several national publications regularly publish rankings that listed Carolina prominently in categories ranging from academic quality to affordability to diversity to public service to international presence. Recent highlights include:

✓ Fifth-best public university in U.S. News & World Report's 2006 "Best Colleges" guidebook. Affirmation as a national leader in student accessibility; first among public campuses and 10th overall in "Great Schools, Great Prices," based on academic quality, net cost of attendance and average student debt. Fifth among publics for "least debt." 54 percent of course sections enrolled fewer than 20 students – a key UNC measure of excellence.

✓ Kenan-Flagler Business School: tied for fifth among undergraduate programs; tied for second among public campuses.

✓ Fourth among public universities in "The Top American Research Universities," produced in December 2004 by the Lombardi Program on Measuring University Performance at the University of Florida.

Dr. James Moeser

CHANCELLOR
SIXTH YEAR AT CAROLINA

Under the leadership of Dr. James Moeser, its ninth chancellor, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill embraces an ambitious vision for the future - to be America's leading public university.

"We want Carolina to be the best that it can be, to lead among America's best public universities," Moeser says. n setting our sights that high, we are drawing from our heritage as the nation's st public university and our strong commitment to helping ensure North rolina's future success."

Moeser's bold leadership has put Carolina in the national spotlight on key issues cluding student accessibility. The chancellor launched the Carolina Covenant, a oundbreaking initiative to make a Chapel Hill education possible debt-free for w-income students.

When Moeser began as chancellor in August 2000, his first challenge was to help cure support for the $3.1 billion bond referendum for higher education. The ref- endum, overwhelmingly approved by voters, was the nation's largest higher edu- ion bond package. Moeser pledged to North Carolinians that if they passed the nd referendum, Carolina would triple their investment through private fund-rais- g efforts.

Moeser announced a $1.8 billion goal for the Carolina First Campaign in tober 2002. The multi-year private fund-raising effort is helping position rolina as the nation's leading public university. By mid-2005, the campaign had sed nearly $1.48 billion mark in gifts and pledges from alumni and friends. culty support and the quality of students and facilities are among key priorities the campaign.

Under Moeser's leadership, the University completed an academic plan to guide ure decisions and investments in academic priorities. Evidence of success ludes the School of Public Health's selection by the U.S. Centers for Disease ntrol and Prevention to house one of the nation's three centers of excellence for nomics and public health.

Moeser was unanimously elected chancellor in April 2000 by the UNC Board of vernors and arrived after four years as chancellor of the University of Nebraska Lincoln, where he was credited with strengthening academics and fund raising.

A concert organist, Moeser began his career in 1966 at the University of Kansas ssistant professor and chairman of the organ department. In 1986 he joined the nsylvania State University as Dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and cutive director of University Arts Services. Six years later Moeser became vice sident for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a t he held until his selection as Nebraska's chancellor in 1996.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Moeser grew up in Lubbock and graduated n the University of Texas at Austin with a bachelor of music degree with hon- in 1961 and a master of music in musicology in 1964. He studied in Berlin and s on a Fulbright Scholarship and earned a doctorate from the University of higan in 1967.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and sic lecturer and University organist at Carolina. His children are a son, Chris, an rney in Phoenix, Ariz., and a daughter, Carter, a physical therapist in Tacoma, sh.

Dick Baddour

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS
39TH YEAR AT CAROLINA

Carolina is one of the most widely recognized and respected athletic programs in the country, known both for its commitment to academic integrity and competitive excellence in men's and women's sports. The leader of this 28-sport program is Goldsboro native Dick Baddour, who counts nine years as Director of Athletics among his 39 years of service to his alma mater.

The 1966 UNC graduate is committed to keeping the Tar Heels among the nation's elite, while maintaining the University's proud traditions of graduating its student-athletes and playing within NCAA and ACC rules. It's a balance Baddour often emphasizes to Carolina's coaches and staff.

"We want to be successful in every sport, but we also expect our coaches to recruit outstanding young people who are ready to excel academically, athletically and socially," says Baddour. "Fortunately, that has been the norm here for generations. That's why Carolina alumni are so proud of their athletics program – we have been blessed to compete successfully and we've been able to do that with great people."

In Baddour's eight years as Director of Athletics, the Tar Heels have won 44 Atlantic Coast Conference championships. Seventeen different UNC men's and women's sports have won ACC titles in that time.

Carolina has posted the highest ACC finish in the NACDA Cup, which measures postseason NCAA success, in six of the last eight years.

Last year was also the first for the Carolina Leadership Academy, a training program for student-athletes, coaches and administrators.

During Baddour's tenure, the Tar Heels have won national championships in men's basketball, men's and women's soccer and field hockey, won two football bowl games and had numerous Top 10 national finishes in Olympic Sports. UNC has had 15 individual national champions in the last four seasons.

Baddour has hired head coaches in seven sports, overseen renovations or created plans to update virtually every facility in the athletic complex, expanded the direction and staffing for student-athlete services and worked tirelessly to set the program on sound financial footing currently and for future years.

Baddour emphasizes the number one priority for attending Carolina is academic achievement. Last year, 170 student-athletes made the Dean's List on average in each semester and 298 Tar Heels made the ACC Academic Honor Roll. The Tar Heels had the highest graduation rate of the men's basketball teams that advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16 and UNC fared well in the initial findings of the APR, the NCAA's newest tool for measuring graduation rates.

Baddour began his UNC career in 1967 as assistant dean of men. In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. He served as Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement.

Baddour spent 11 years as John Swofford's top assistant before being named the Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In 2001, he received a Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association.

Baddour and his wife, Lynda, have three children. Allen, assistant district attorney for Orange and Chatham Counties, and his wife, Holly, have two sons, Henry and Jack; David, an attorney with RTP-based Womble-Carlyle, and his wife, Carey, have a daughter, Lauren, and son, Johnathan; Jennifer, a family therapist in private practice in Cary, is married to Kevin Snead.

THE ERNIE WILLIAMSON ATHLETICS CENTER

Honoring the Tradition . . .

UNC will soon welcome a new facility that will honor the rich traditions of Tar Heel Basketball and the storied Carolina Athletics program. The Ernie Williamson Athletics Center will be the new home for much of Carolina Athletics, including a state-of-the-art museum dedicated to the outstanding legacy and bright future of Carolina Basketball.

Ernie Williamson

This valuable new addition to the Carolina athletics program will be named in honor of a true Tar Heel legend – Ernie Williamson.

The man known and beloved by many as "Big E" was a student-athlete at Carolina, the Executive Director of the Educational Foundation from 1957-1986, and a consultant to the organization until his death in 2002. A native of Crewe, Va., Williamson played football at Carolina in1946 and later with the NFL's Washington Redskins and the All-America Conference's Los Angeles Dons. He received his undergraduate degree from Carolina in 1951 and a master's degree from UNC in 1952.

"The University of North Carolina had no better friend nor greater ambassador than Ernie Williamson," commented Director of Athletics Dick Baddour. "Thousands of student-athletes over the past five decades were given an opportunity for a great education and a chance to compete in intercollegiate athletics due to his tireless efforts leading the Educational Foundation."

Located east of the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium, the 3 1/2-story building will house many entertaining and important parts of Carolina Athletics:

- The Carolina Basketball Museum
- Rams Club / Educational Foundation Offices
- Athletics Department Offices
- Athletics Ticket Office

With the Ernie Williamson Athletics Center, the many facets of the UNC Athletics Department and the Rams Club will once again work together under one roof. For information on this project, contact Ken Mack at 919.843.6410, or visit www.ramsclub.com.

Capital Project

The Rams Club continues to raise funds for many capital projects. Recent projects have included the Softball Complex and the Eddie Smith Field House. Current projects in the fundraising phase include the proposed Ernie Williamson Athletics Center and a renovation to Boshamer Stadium. These projects are detailed in the following pages.

BOSHAMER
A CAMPAIGN FOR CAROLINA BASEBALL

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA IS COMMITTED TO GIVE CAROLINA BASEBALL THE OPPORTUNITY TO BECOME THE PREMIER INTERCOLLEGIATE BASEBALL PROGRAM IN THE COUNTRY. UNC PLANS TO UNDERTAKE AN $8 MILLION FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN TO RENOVATE BOSHAMER STADIUM, AND MAKE IT ONE OF THE LEADING FACILITIES IN COLLEGE BASEBALL.

e Carolina Baseball program has moved forward with great success. This positive direction has been achieved through the hard work a dedicated coaching staff, outstanding recruiting efforts, the play of talented Tar Heel student-athletes and the vital support of Tar el followers.

make this critical next step, Carolina Baseball must continue to improve all aspects of its program, especially its facilities. Boshamer dium is a wonderful home for Carolina Baseball, but to remain competitive, Carolina must update this facility. The proposed ancements include elements benefiting the program, the student-athletes and the fans.

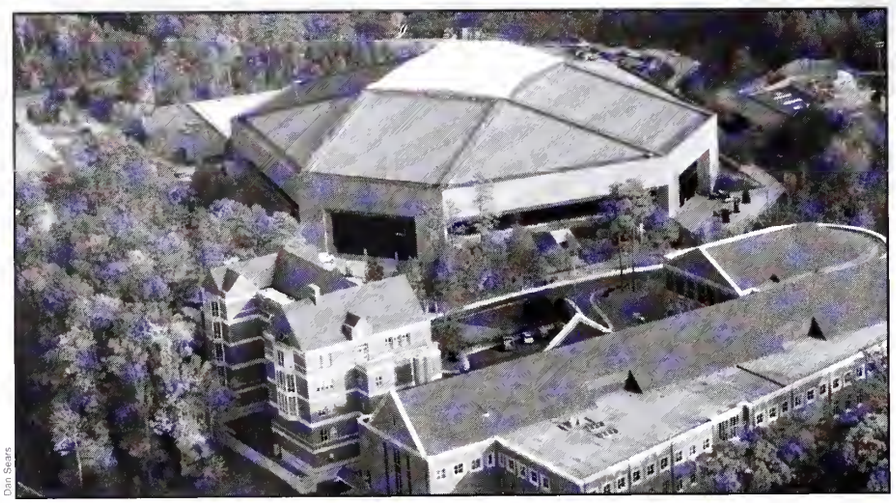
DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

CAROLINA BASKETBALL 2005-06



Dan Sears

Carolina basketball is competing in the Dean E. Smith Center for the 21st season. The Tar Heels have played 265 games in the Smith Center in front of a combined audience of more than 5.3 million fans. Carolina has a 222-43 record in the Smith Center, a dominant winning percentage of .838.

Last year, Carolina's average attendance was the third-best in the nation. The Tar Heels have been in the top five in the national attendance leaders in 18 of the last 19 seasons.

During the 2004-05 season, two 50-foot long, high-resolution ribbon video boards were added to the fascia around the upper level of the Smith Center. At the same time, a 40-foot video board was added to the scorer's table.

New, high-resolution video boards will be in place for the 2005-06 season. The dimensions of the boards are 17.8 feet x 23.6 feet, making them some of the largest indoor boards in the country.

The Smith Center recently underwent an extensive facelift that improved the behind-the-scenes training areas. The UNC locker room and weight room were completely renovated. A new media center was built and the Bowles Room and Rams Club offices were retrofitted to include a practice gym.

Prior to moving into the Smith Center, Carolina played its home games at Carmichael Auditorium. The Tar Heels were 169-20 at Carmichael. UNC debuted there on Dec. 4, 1965, against William and Mary, and finished play on Jan. 4, 1986, in a win over NC State.

In May 1980, the Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission to raise millions of dollars from private donations to construct an arena. The real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles.

Six years, 2,362 donors and over $34 million later, the premiere basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot structure stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140-foot-high building.

The first game featured No. 1 Carolina defeating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, in a battle of unbeatens on Jan. 18, 1986. The first Tar Heel basket was scored by Carolina center Warren Martin off a pass from Kenny Smith. Since that first game, the Smith Center has been the site of many memorable moments in Tar Heel history.

✓ On Jan. 27, 1993, UNC trailed Florida State by 21 points with 11:48 to play in the game, but rallied for an 82-77 win. George Lynch's steal and dunk gave Carolina the lead.

✓ On Feb. 3, 1994, No. 2 Carolina beat No. 1 Duke, 89-78, in the first-ever matchup between the great rivals in which the teams held the top two spots in the Associated Press poll.

✓ UNC and Duke repeated their No. 1 vs. No. 2 battle on Feb. 5, 1998, as the second-ranked Tar Heels routed the top-rated Blue Devils, 97-73. Antawn Jamison scored 35 points that evening, one of three occasions he netted at least 35 points in the Smith Center.

✓ On Feb. 8, 1992, UNC rallied from 22 points down to beat Wake Forest, the largest comeback in school history.

✓ On Jan. 17, 2004, Rashad McCants' three-pointer with 6.2 seconds remaining gave Carolina an 86-83 win over No. 1-ranked Connecticut. McCants scored UNC's last 10 points of the game.

✓ On March 6, 2005, Marvin Williams' three-point play with 17 seconds to go gave Carolina a 75-73 win over Duke to clinch th ACC regular-season title. Sean May had 2 points and 24 rebounds in the win.
